U.S., China Open Warsaw Talks Today

Envoys Due To Consider Asia Crisis

Both Sides Silent On Just What Beam, Wang Will Discuss

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States and Communist China agreed Sunday to open talks on the ambassadorial level here Monday, on the Far Eastern crisis.

Both parties maintained strict silence on just what U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan will talk about. There was no official link-up of these Warsaw negotiations with the flaming situation in the Nationalist-held islands off the China coast.

But Wang, who has represented his country in all previous U.S.-Red China talks, said Friday when he returned here from consultations in Peiping:

"I was called to Peiping to get instructions for the Sino-American ambassadorial talks which are to take place in Warsaw."

Mao Statement Recalled

He repeated a recent statement by Communist Chinese Chairman Mao Tze-Tung:

"If both sides show good will the talks may achieve satisfactory results."

A communique issued Sunday night after several days of hush-hush parleys between American and Chinese diplomats, said:

"Following consultations between representatives of the United States and the Peoples Republic of China, it has been decided to hold the next meeting of the ambassadorial talks at 3 p.m. (8 a.m. EST) Monday, Sept. 15, in premises made available by the Polish government at the Mysliwiecki Palace."

The palace, situated in a park in mid-Warsaw, was once the hunting lodge of the kinds of Poland.

Resumption Of Geneva Talks

The reference to "next meeting" in the communique was intended to place these new talks in the context of earlier meetings between the two powers at Geneva.

Although world opinion insists on regarding these talks as a sort of peace conference intended to settle the boiling tension around Quemoy, U.S. sources in Warsaw maintain they are only a resumption of those earlier parleys.

The Warsaw diplomatic corps, however, is convinced the talks mark the beginning of a new effort to stabilize the Far Eastern situation without either side losing too much face.

Two Hunters Blown To Bits

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP)—Two 15-year-old rabbit hunters were blown to bits Saturday night when they fired a .22-caliber rifle through a keyhole and set off four tons of explosives.

Only parts of the boys' bodies were discovered. They and their guns were blown several hundred yards from the building.

The explosion also shattered windows in business establishments in the center of this southern Utah city, and an undetermined number of residential windows.

The explosion was about three miles from town.

Iron County Sheriff Arthur Nelson said the boys killed were Billy Short, who lived with a sister in Cedar City, and Neil Beatty, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Beatty of Cedar City. Earlier, it was feared that more than two may have been killed. But Nelson said the two boys were the only persons unaccounted for.

N.Y. Yanks Clinch Flag

[By The Associated Press]

The New York Yankees Sunday clinched their 24th American League pennant and their ninth in 10 years under Manager Casey Stengel. When the Yanks defeated Kansas City 5-3 in the first game of a doubleheader, they snuffed out Chicago's last hope.

Although the National League winner has not been established mathematically, Milwaukee appears to be "in". Thus there will be a rematch of the 1957 Yankee-Braves World Series.

The series will open Wednesday Oct. 1 at Milwaukee and will continue in the National League park the following day. After an off day for travel the series will be resumed Saturday, Oct. 4 at Yankee Stadium for the next three games. If more are needed, they will return to Milwaukee after another off day for travel. The series is decided on a best-of-seven basis.

There never was a real race in the American League this year with the Yanks taking command at an early date. Nobody became a serious threat despite a late season slump by New York.

Russia Ready To Talk Trade Pact With U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's foreign trade boss says his country is ready now to negotiate a trade agreement with the United States. When the talks can start, he said, is up to the U.S. State Department.

But Anastas I. Mikoyan, first deputy Soviet premier, said "fine words about trade will remain words only" unless the United States removes obstacles which he said have been set up since 1951.

These obstacles, he said, were: 1. "laws and decrees directed against trade with the Soviet Union" and 2. high tariffs which make the sale of Soviet goods in the United States impossible.

Russia's newest bid for U.S. goods and the American market were made by Mikoyan in an NBC-TV interview — "Youth Wants to Know"—filmed in Moscow July 26 and broadcast Sunday.

It was the first of five such interviews with Soviet leaders. Assistant producer Julian A. Bartolini described the series as "the first successful exchange of television programs between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Mikoyan was chatty and at times expansive. He said the development of trade between the United States and Russia would help ease tensions. He said the cold war must be ended "once and for all" so trade could develop faster.

"The things we want to buy are of no military significance," Mikoyan said. "Secondly, as for the production of arms, we have enough, and we do not need to buy any."

Then he added: "If you like, we could sell you some. Naturally, we will not sell intercontinental rockets as yet. That goes without saying."

From America, Mikoyan said, Russia would like to buy equipment and whole factories to produce consumer goods at home. At the start, he said, Russia would need credit in the United States until it found buyers for Soviet goods and currency for payment.

Little Rock Tense; Zero Hour Nears

New Legal Moves By Justice Dept. Expected Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A sense of expectancy enveloped this city Sunday as zero hour neared in the desperate struggle centering on this question: Can states keep Negro children out of all-white schools?

Central High School, a symbol of the federal-state dispute, had been scheduled to open at 9 a.m. Monday with seven Negroes among the 2,000 white students.

But Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered the school closed. He acted under powers given him by the Legislature last month, and said he did so to avoid violence and disorder of the kind that occurred at Central High last year.

The principals began gathering.

U.S. District Judge John E. Miller broke away from pressing court business in other parts of the state and arrived in Little Rock late Sunday. He said he had no reason to expect any legal action to come before him but he would stand by until Friday, when he is scheduled to hear proceedings in Fort Smith on the Van Buren integration case.

Faubus In Seclusion

Gov. Faubus announced he will be in his office Monday after spending the weekend in seclusion out of the city.

The U.S. Justice Department held 150 deputy marshals ready for developments.

City police authorities canceled all vacations and days off.

Citizens observed a quiet Sabbath. Streets, as usual on Sunday, were almost deserted. Worshipers streamed into churches.

Tan, sprawling, Central High School slept under a bright sun. A civilian guard walked the campus where white demonstrators rioted last year in an attempt to force Negroes from the building and where armed paratroopers forced the crowds away at bayonet point.

Horace Mann High, the all-Negro school, was deserted.

Opponents in the momentous struggle sat quietly waiting' for the other to move.

Legal Move Indicated

Justice Department spokesman refused to reveal their strategy, but the number of deputy marshals and U.S. assistant attorneys general who converged on the city demonstrated that the agency expects to take some action, or counteraction.

Curbstone opinion was that the Justice Departmen could seek an injunction ordering Faubus to stop interfering with integration.

Such a legal move last year caused him to remove National Guardsmen from the Central High campus.

It would be possible for federal marshals to escort the seven Negro students involved into Central High Monday and place them in classrooms. Teachers will be present as they have been since Aug. 27. But whether they would teach in the face of the governor's order was a big question.

Jap Volcano Erupts

TOKYO (AP)—Mt. Mihara, one of Japan's five active volcanoes about 60 miles south of Tokyo, erupted twice Sunday, spewing smoke and ashes more than 2,000 feet into the air. No casualties were reported.

USSR Mum On Fate Of 11 Missing American Fliers

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government remained mum Sunday on the fate of 11 airmen missing from a U.S. Air Force C130 research plane that crashed inside Soviet Armenia near the Turkish border Sept. 2. U.S. officials here expressed increased concern for them.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Soviet Foreign Ministry so far had not replied to oral and written requests of the United States Friday and Saturday for information on the whereabouts and condition of the 11 men and their return, if located.

In a note Friday, the Soviet government in response to an earlier U.S. request for information reported the discovery of the plane's wreckage and six bodies 35 miles northwest of Yerevan, capital of Soviet Armenia near the Turkish border.

The original American request said the plane, with 17 aboard, was last seen under escort of Soviet fighter planes near Kars on the Turkish border. The Soviet reply six days later made no mention of the remainder of the plane's crew.

In two previous incidents involving U.S. aircraft, the Soviet government promptly reported—and vigorously denounced—what it called violations of Soviet Borders.

The growing concern among U.S. officials in Moscow centers on the possibility that the Soviet government might have considered that a third such incident in less than three months called for more than denunciation.

Spacemen Of Today

They will stay in 10 days collecting data for use in selecting and training spacemen.

Dulles And Gromyko Fly To U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State Dulles are set to push conflicting programs in the U.N. General Assembly session starting Tuesday.

Both were among Sunday's arrivals.

Indications were that the main conflicts will center on the threat of war in the Formosa Strait, the campaign to seat Red China in the U.N., the presence of foreign troops in Lebanon and Jordan and rival U.S. and Soviet proposals on outer space.

Gromyko made no public statement as he arrived by air from Moscow with a 14-member Soviet delegation.

Dulles took a Military Air Transport Service plane from Washington.

In a preview of U.S. policy for the session, Assistant Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox told a New York audience he was sure all in the U.N. "will be watching the situation closely in the coming critical days" in the strait separating Nationalist Chinese Formosa from the Communist mainland. The Communists have been bombarding the Nationalists' offshore islands there since Aug. 23.

Wilcox, addressing the American Association for the United Nations at a New York hotel declared:

"Each member of the United Nations obviously has a strong interest in the situation in the Taiwan (Formosa) Straits area since Communist activities there are fraught with danger to all of us and to world peace."

He quoted from President Eisenhower's address Thursday, to add:

"'If the bilateral talks between ambassadors do not fully succeed, there is still the hope that the United Nations could exert a peaceful influence on the situation.'"

Talks between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan are to start in Warsaw Monday. If they followed the established pattern, they could drag on for months.

Ford Pact Offer Expected Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has indicated it will place a new contract proposal before the United Auto Workers Monday in an effort to head off a scheduled strike set for 10 a.m. Wednesday.

John S. Bugas, Ford vice president in charge of industrial relations and head of the Ford bargaining team, said at the conclusion of an unusual Sunday negotiating session: "We're starting to get down to brass tacks and tomorrow afternoon when we begin our session there may be something definite. You can read into that what you want."

Bugas made it plain that Ford, after five and a half months bargaining with the UAW, has reached the stage where it will make a new offer to its 108,000 UAW-affiliated employes.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther echoed Bugas' feelings that the long-deadlocked talks were reaching the point where the company would lay a new proposal before the UAW.

General Motors and Chrysler negotiators resume talks Monday with indications they will be marking time until the UAW and Ford reach agreement on a contract or see a strike on Wednesday.

World Flier Has More Than Share Of Tough Luck

ROME (AP) — Eight days ago airline pilot Charles F. Banfe took off from New York for an eight-day flight around the world in a single-engine plane. He isn't going to make it in eight days. He's had trouble.

The flight plan first called for a nonstop hop to Rome. But the plane developed trouble in the fuel line and Capt. Banfe, 39, from Palo Alto, Calif., had to sit down in a Corsican vineyard. Finally he got that fixed and went on to Rome.

The flight plan next called for a nonstop hop to Karachi. All set to take off Saturday night, Banfe found the weather bad. So he went back to bed and took off ater a good night's rest. Forty-five minutes later he was back at Ciampino Airport — engine trouble. Banfe diagnosed the trouble and fixed it himself by replacing the sparkplugs. He took off again.

Seven hours later, Pan American World Airways — for whom Banfe works—got a message that the plane—a Mooney Mark 20A—was down again—in Athens—with a conked out radio and more engine trouble.

The message didn't say what Banfe plans to do now.

Half-Dozen Still At Large Sought In Three States

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Nine prisoners broke out of the Scioto County Jail here Sunday. Six were still free and being sought in three states Sunday night.

Two were picked up at a service station in adjoining New Boston Sunday afternoon and another was found walking along a road at Lucasville, 10 miles north of Portsmouth.

Arrested in New Boston were Earl Dean, 28, of Huntington, W. Va., and Stanley Webb, 26, of Portsmouth. On the possibility they might have been hiding in the woods and come out to be picked up by friends, Portsmouth police watched the area.

Two Others Arrested

Detective Lt. Frank Mercer and Patrolman Carl Fetters of Portsmouth recognized Webb as he and Dean were about to get in a car. Two other men—one said to be Webb's brother—were also arrested, but not charged immediately. None offered resistance.

Dean was being held on charges of burglary and safe - cracking; Webb for armed robbery.

Clifford Jenkins, 20, of Lucasville, who was being held for arson, burglary and larceny, was arrested as he walked along a road there.

Dep. Sheriff Carl Lindner said the break was accomplished shortly after midnight, Eastern Daylight Time. It went unnoticed until 9:45 a.m., EDT.

Crawl Through Skylight

The prisoners, some with criminal records, were being held for trial on various charges, Lindner said. They escaped by prying loose the bars of a bull-pen with a piece of lumber, and crawling through a skylight.

The fugitives were sought in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The other six men, and the charges on which they were held, are:

Wreck Of Cog Train Kills 18

BONN, Germany (AP)—The cog train that runs up to the Drachenfels above the Rhine plunged from its tracks Sunday night, killing 18 persons. Sixty others were injured.

A number of European tourists were among the victims. Authorities said their nationalities and names may not be known before Monday.

The train left the rails about one-eighth of the way down its one-mile run.

The steam engine smashed into a ditch. The first of three cars broke loose, crashed through trees and came to rest in a jumbled heap in a gully. The second car slid halfway into a ditch. The third car remained on the right of way, but its side was ripped open.

Atlas ICBM On Bullseye

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mighty Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile racked up another bullseye early Sunday after blasting across the Atlantic on a 3,000-mile space flight.

The spectacular launching was a tune-up for Atlas' biggest test—the first attempt to fire the missile at the 6,325-mile intercontinental range.

The long-awaited "all the way" shot for which the missile was designed is expected within the next few weeks.

There was no official Air Force announcement but it was learned that the latest test was highly successful. It was the third time in four tries that a fully powered Atlas hit the mark at 3,000-mile range.

The 85-foot Convair rocket bolted aloft shortly after Saturday midnight.

Sunday's test results reportedly were better than the last shoot which came Aug. 28.

New Soviet U.N. Push In China's Behalf Expected

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is expected to make a determined bid to place the Formosa issue before the United Nations Assembly when it opens in New York Tuesday.

It also is expected to press for Communist China's participation in any Formosa talks as a wedge for Peiping's eventual admission to the United Nations.

President Eisenhower's letter to Premier Khrushchev Saturday brought no immediate reaction from the Kremlin. The Soviet press did not report the note or the fact it had been delivered. The note passed the ball back to Khrushchev concerning any concrete proposals to resolve the Formosa crisis.

Khrushchev set the stage for a new Soviet push in the United Nations on Communist China's behalf in his letter to President Eisenhower last Sunday. But Soviet strategy is not expected to be limited to deliberations within the United Nations.

Khrushchev, now vacationing in the south of Russia, is expected to start lobbing new Soviet proposals for a solution of the Formosa crisis across the Atlantic as soon as the General Assembly opens, if not sooner. Most Westerners in Moscow express belief the proposals will be accompanied by the standard denunciations of the United States which the Kremlin has developed for use in the Formosa question.

Pravda Sunday berated Eisenhower for his radio-TV address last Thursday. The words it used probably could just as well apply to the new letter, which it failed to mention. The Communist party organ expressed doubt the President really wanted peaceful negotiation of the Formosa issue.

Bulganin Reported Ill, Possibly Dying

LONDON (UPI) — The Sunday Reynolds News, quoting "a usually reliable Moscow source," said Sunday that former Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin "is seriously ill, possibly dying."

According to the source, the News said, "Bulganin's life is now a matter of weeks."

Two More Marine Units Prepare To Quit Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) — Two battalions of U.S. Marines began loading up Sunday to go home. When they depart there will be only one Marine battalion — 1,589 men — left in Lebanon; but the U. S. Army still has about 8,000 men here.

One Marine battalion left in mid-August and last week it was announced a second battalion would begin loading aboard ships Monday. But this battalion began loading Sunday and at the same time the Navy disclosed still another battalion would be going at the same time.

There has been no official indication when Army units may begin pulling out.

Marine battalions which began boarding ships Sunday are the 1st and 2nd of the 8th Marine Regiment. A Navy spokesman said both are going back to the United States.

Scores of Lebanese, especially girls, turned out to say goodby to advance parties boarding. One of the first aboard was T.Sgt. Arthur Smith, 30, of Southgate, Ky., who commented: "The people here have been wonderful, but I am glad to be leaving."

Looking around at the smiling, waving Lebanese, Smith exclaimed: "See what I mean — mean — these people are wonderful." Smith then bent over and shook hands with a little Lebanese boy and said, "Be good, son."

His buddies gave hearty kisses to Lebanese girls who lined up outside the gate to the port area where the four ships are docked.

LST Lands Cargo Amid Hail Of Shells

Old Vessel Badly Damaged; Supplies Dropped From Air

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalists broke through the Red Chinese artillery blockade of the Quemoy offshore islands by air and sea Sunday. The beleaguered outposts received their first major supplies in a week.

With U.S. amphibious experts directing operations, a World War II LST — landing ship, tank — rammed its old hulk up on a Quemoy beach and hastily disgorged a cargo of loaded vehicles as Red shells burst around it, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said. The ship was badly damaged.

Later, a flight of planes winged over Little Quemoy, two miles closer to the Red mainland, and made the first airdrop of supplies since the Reds tightened their blockade after the start of hostilities Aug. 23.

Another Convoy Gathers

Another convoy of supply ships with U.S. 7th Fleet protection was gathering steam in the Pescadores for another run to the Quemoy complex, perched under the muzzles of Red siege guns.

The Defense Ministry announcement of the airdrop came a few hours before midnight, indicating the flight was made under cover of darkness. The announcement gave no details other than to say the airdrop was successful.

Hours before the announcement, however, a flight of six C46 transport planes took off from southern Formosa for an undisclosed destination. Nationalist cargo planes loaded with medical and other critical supplies have been sitting on airstrip aprons for several days awaiting a green light.

The need for supplies on Little Quemoy is desperate. That 5½-square-mile outcropping is dependent upon small boats from Quemoy, which in turn has a serious supply need.

Tricky Operation

The Reds also are reported to have large numbers of antiaircraft guns set up around the Quemoys.

The ship landing at Quemoy seemed to have been carried ost with speed and decision. This was believed to be a big factor in the success of the operation.

In the short time the ship was beached, the Reds lobbed in 1,600 shells. One Nationalist serviceman was missing and two were wounded. Holes were blasted in the side of the old ship and she was reported taking water.

After unloading supply-carrying amphibious vehicles, the LST was towed out to sea and back to her base, presumably in the Pescadores.

Appropriate Sermon Heard By Eisenhower

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower, beset by integration problems at home and renewed Communist aggression in the Far East, heard a strangely appropriate sermon Sunday. The text: "Be not anxious about tomorrow."

Eisenhower worshipped at an all-male service in a second-floor chapel at the office candidate school at the naval base.

Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Trower, who preached the sermon, took his "do not be anxious" theme from Matthew 6:34.

The chaplain who conducted the remainder of the service, Lt. Cmdr. V. E. Sundt, offered a prayer for the liberation of all peoples bound by chains of prejudice and slavery.

Sundt is the father of one of the 12-year-old girls who broke through Secret Service guards and kissed Eisenhower after a church service at another Navy chapel two weeks ago.

Eisenhower was accompanied by his house guest—and Washington and Gettysburg, Pa., friend—George E. Allen. Later they played golf in cool, sunny weather at the Newport Country Club. Their companions were William E. Robinson of New York, board chairman of the Coca-Cola Co., and pro Norman Palmer.

Curbstone opinion was that the Justice Departmen could seek an injunction ordering Faubus to stop interfering with integration.

Such a legal move last year caused him to remove National Guardsmen from the Central High campus.

It would be possible for federal marshals to escort the seven Negro students involved into Central High Monday and place them in classrooms. Teachers will be present as they have been since Aug. 27. But whether they would teach in the face of the governor's order was a big question.

Jap Volcano Erupts

TOKYO (AP)—Mt. Mihara, one of Japan's five active volcanoes about 60 miles south of Tokyo, erupted twice Sunday, spewing smoke and ashes more than 2,000 feet into the air. No casualties were reported.

USSR Mum On Fate Of 11 Missing American Fliers

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government remained mum Sunday on the fate of 11 airmen missing from a U.S. Air Force C130 research plane that crashed inside Soviet Armenia near the Turkish border Sept. 2. U.S. officials here expressed increased concern for them.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Soviet Foreign Ministry so far had not replied to oral and written requests of the United States Friday and Saturday for information on the whereabouts and condition of the 11 men and their return, if located.

In a note Friday, the Soviet government in response to an earlier U.S. request for information reported the discovery of the plane's wreckage and six bodies 35 miles northwest of Yerevan, capital of Soviet Armenia near the Turkish border.

The original American request said the plane, with 17 aboard, was last seen under escort of Soviet fighter planes near Kars on the Turkish border. The Soviet reply six days later made no mention of the remainder of the plane's crew.

In two previous incidents involving U.S. aircraft, the Soviet government promptly reported—and vigorously denounced—what it called violations of Soviet Borders.

The growing concern among U.S. officials in Moscow centers on the possibility that the Soviet government might have considered that a third such incident in less than three months called for more than denunciation.

Dulles And Gromyko Fly To U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. Secretary of State Dulles are set to push conflicting programs in the U.N. General Assembly session starting Tuesday.

Both were among Sunday's arrivals.

Indications were that the main conflicts will center on the threat of war in the Formosa Strait, the campaign to seat Red China in the U.N., the presence of foreign troops in Lebanon and Jordan and rival U.S. and Soviet proposals on outer space.

Gromyko made no public statement as he arrived by air from Moscow with a 14-member Soviet delegation.

Dulles took a Military Air Transport Service plane from Washington.

In a preview of U.S. policy for the session, Assistant Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox told a New York audience he was sure all in the U.N. "will be watching the situation closely in the coming critical days" in the strait separating Nationalist Chinese Formosa from the Communist mainland. The Communists have been bombarding the Nationalists' offshore islands there since Aug. 23.

Wilcox, addressing the American Association for the United Nations at a New York hotel declared:

"Each member of the United Nations obviously has a strong interest in the situation in the Taiwan (Formosa) Straits area since Communist activities there are fraught with danger to all of us and to world peace."

He quoted from President Eisenhower's address Thursday, to add:

"'If the bilateral talks between ambassadors do not fully succeed, there is still the hope that the United Nations could exert a peaceful influence on the situation.'"

Talks between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan are to start in Warsaw Monday. If they followed the established pattern, they could drag on for months.

Ford Pact Offer Expected Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has indicated it will place a new contract proposal before the United Auto Workers Monday in an effort to head off a scheduled strike set for 10 a.m. Wednesday.

John S. Bugas, Ford vice president in charge of industrial relations and head of the Ford bargaining team, said at the conclusion of an unusual Sunday negotiating session: "We're starting to get down to brass tacks and tomorrow afternoon when we begin our session there may be something definite. You can read into that what you want."

Bugas made it plain that Ford, after five and a half months bargaining with the UAW, has reached the stage where it will make a new offer to its 108,000 UAW-affiliated employes.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther echoed Bugas' feelings that the long-deadlocked talks were reaching the point where the company would lay a new proposal before the UAW.

General Motors and Chrysler negotiators resume talks Monday with indications they will be marking time until the UAW and Ford reach agreement on a contract or see a strike on Wednesday.

World Flier Has More Than Share Of Tough Luck

ROME (AP) — Eight days ago airline pilot Charles F. Banfe took off from New York for an eight-day flight around the world in a single-engine plane. He isn't going to make it in eight days. He's had trouble.

The flight plan first called for a nonstop hop to Rome. But the plane developed trouble in the fuel line and Capt. Banfe, 39, from Palo Alto, Calif., had to sit down in a Corsican vineyard. Finally he got that fixed and went on to Rome.

The flight plan next called for a nonstop hop to Karachi. All set to take off Saturday night, Banfe found the weather bad. So he went back to bed and took off after a good night's rest. Forty-five minutes later he was back at Ciampino Airport — engine trouble. Banfe diagnosed the trouble and fixed it himself by replacing the sparkplugs. He took off again.

Seven hours later, Pan American World Airways — for whom Banfe works—got a message that the plane—a Mooney Mark 20A—was down again—in Athens—with a conked out radio and more engine trouble.

The message didn't say what Banfe plans to do now.

Half-Dozen Still At Large Sought In Three States

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Nine prisoners broke out of the Scioto County Jail here Sunday. Six were still free and being sought in three states Sunday night.

Two were picked up at a service station in adjoining New Boston Sunday afternoon and another was found walking along a road at Lucasville, 10 miles north of Portsmouth.

Arrested in New Boston were Earl Dean, 28, of Huntington, W. Va., and Stanley Webb, 26, of Portsmouth. On the possibility they might have been hiding in the woods and come out to be picked up by friends, Portsmouth police watched the area.

Two Others Arrested

Detective Lt. Frank Mercer and Patrolman Carl Fetters of Portsmouth recognized Webb as he and Dean were about to get in a car. Two other men—one said to be Webb's brother—were also arrested, but not charged immediately. None offered resistance.

Dean was being held on charges of burglary and safe-cracking; Webb for armed robbery.

Clifford Jenkins, 20, of Lucasville, who was being held for arson, burglary and larceny, was arrested as he walked along a road there.

Dep. Sheriff Carl Lindner said the break was accomplished shortly after midnight, Eastern Daylight Time. It went unnoticed until 9:45 a.m., EDT.

Crawl Through Skylight

The prisoners, some with criminal records, were being held for trial on various charges, Lindner said. They escaped by prying loose the bars of a bull-pen with a piece of lumber, and crawling through a skylight.

The fugitives were sought in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The other six men, and the charges on which they were held, are:

Wreck Of Cog Train Kills 18

BONN, Germany (AP)—The cog train that runs up to the Drachenfels above the Rhine plunged from its tracks Sunday night, killing 18 persons. Sixty others were injured.

A number of European tourists were among the victims. Authorities said their nationalities and names may not be known before Monday.

The train left the rails about one-eighth of the way down its one-mile run.

The steam engine smashed into a ditch. The first of three cars broke loose, crashed through trees and came to rest in a jumbled heap in a gully. The second car slid halfway into a ditch. The third car remained on the right of way, but its side was ripped open.

Atlas ICBM On Bullseye

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mighty Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile racked up another bullseye early Sunday after blasting across the Atlantic on a 3,000-mile space flight.

The spectacular launching was a tune-up for Atlas' biggest test—the first attempt to fire the missile at the 6,325-mile intercontinental range.

The long-awaited "all the way" shot for which the missile was designed is expected within the next few weeks.

There was no official Air Force announcement but it was learned that the latest test was highly successful. It was the third time in four tries that a fully powered Atlas hit the mark at 3,000-mile range.

The 85-foot Convair rocket bolted aloft shortly after Saturday midnight.

Sunday's test results reportedly were better than the last shoot which came Aug. 28.

New Soviet U.N. Push In China's Behalf Expected

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is expected to make a determined bid to place the Formosa issue before the United Nations Assembly when it opens in New York Tuesday.

It also is expected to press for Communist China's participation in any Formosa talks as a wedge for Peiping's eventual admission to the United Nations.

President Eisenhower's letter to Premier Khrushchev Saturday brought no immediate reaction from the Kremlin. The Soviet press did not report the note or the fact it had been delivered. The note passed the ball back to Khrushchev concerning any concrete proposals to resolve the Formosa crisis.

Khrushchev set the stage for a new Soviet push in the United Nations on Communist China's behalf in his letter to President Eisenhower last Sunday. But Soviet strategy is not expected to be limited to deliberations within the United Nations.

Khrushchev, now vacationing in the south of Russia, is expected to start lobbing new Soviet proposals for a solution of the Formosa crisis across the Atlantic as soon as the General Assembly opens, if not sooner. Most Westerners in Moscow express belief the proposals will be accompanied by the standard denunciations of the United States which the Kremlin has developed for use in the Formosa question.

Pravda Sunday berated Eisenhower for his radio-TV address last Thursday. The words it used probably could just as well apply to the new letter, which it failed to mention. The Communist party organ expressed doubt the President really wanted peaceful negotiation of the Formosa issue.

Bulganin Reported Ill, Possibly Dying

LONDON (UPI) — The Sunday Reynolds News, quoting "a usually reliable Moscow source," said Sunday that former Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin "is seriously ill, possibly dying."

According to the source, the News said, "Bulganin's life is now a matter of weeks."

Two More Marine Units Prepare To Quit Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) — Two battalions of U.S. Marines began loading up Sunday to go home. When they depart there will be only one Marine battalion — 1,589 men — left in Lebanon; but the U. S. Army still has about 8,000 men here.

One Marine battalion left in mid-August and last week it was announced a second battalion would begin loading aboard ships Monday. But this battalion began loading Sunday and at the same time the Navy disclosed still another battalion would be going at the same time.

There has been no official indication when Army units may begin pulling out.

Marine battalions which began boarding ships Sunday are the 1st and 2nd of the 8th Marine Regiment. A Navy spokesman said both are going back to the United States.

Scores of Lebanese, especially girls, turned out to say goodby to advance parties boarding. One of the first aboard was T.Sgt. Arthur Smith, 30, of Southgate, Ky., who commented: "The people here have been wonderful, but I am glad to be leaving."

Looking around at the smiling, waving Lebanese, Smith exclaimed: "See what I mean — mean — these people are wonderful." Smith then bent over and shook hands with a little Lebanese boy and said, "Be good, son."

His buddies gave hearty kisses to Lebanese girls who lined up outside the gate to the port area where the four ships are docked.

LST Lands Cargo Amid Hail Of Shells

Old Vessel Badly Damaged; Supplies Dropped From Air

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalists broke through the Red Chinese artillery blockade of the Quemoy offshore islands by air and sea Sunday. The beleaguered outposts received their first major supplies in a week.

With U.S. amphibious experts directing operations, a World War II LST — landing ship, tank — rammed its old hulk up on a Quemoy beach and hastily disgorged a cargo of loaded vehicles as Red shells burst around it, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said. The ship was badly damaged.

Later, a flight of planes winged over Little Quemoy, two miles closer to the Red mainland, and made the first airdrop of supplies since the Reds tightened their blockade after the start of hostilities Aug. 23.

Another Convoy Gathers

Another convoy of supply ships with U.S. 7th Fleet protection was gathering steam in the Pescadores for another run to the Quemoy complex, perched under the muzzles of Red siege guns.

The Defense Ministry announcement of the airdrop came a few hours before midnight, indicating the flight was made under cover of darkness. The announcement gave no details other than to say the airdrop was successful.

Hours before the announcement, however, a flight of six C46 transport planes took off from southern Formosa for an undisclosed destination. Nationalist cargo planes loaded with medical and other critical supplies have been sitting on airstrip aprons for several days awaiting a green light.

The need for supplies on Little Quemoy is desperate. That 5½-square-mile outcropping is dependent upon small boats from Quemoy, which in turn has a serious supply need.

Tricky Operation

Airdrops to the Quemoys apparently are tricky. The Reds recently activated a MIG jet base on the mainland just 40 miles from Little Quemoy.

The Reds also are reported to have large numbers of antiaircraft guns set up around the Quemoys.

The ship landing at Quemoy seemed to have been carried ost with speed and decision. This was believed to be a big factor in the success of the operation.

In the short time the ship was beached, the Reds lobbed in 1,600 shells. One Nationalist serviceman was missing and two were wounded. Holes were blasted in the side of the old ship and she was reported taking water.

Appropriate Sermon Heard By Eisenhower

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower, beset by integration problems at home and renewed Communist aggression in the Far East, heard a strangely appropriate sermon Sunday. The text: "Be not anxious about tomorrow."

Eisenhower worshipped at an all-male service in a second-floor chapel at the office candidate school at the naval base.

Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Trower, who preached the sermon, took his "do not be anxious" theme from Matthew 6:34.

The chaplain who conducted the remainder of the service, Lt. Cmdr. V. E. Sundt, offered a prayer for the liberation of all peoples bound by chains of prejudice and slavery.

Sundt is the father of one of the 12-year-old girls who broke through Secret Service guards and kissed Eisenhower after a church service at another Navy chapel two weeks ago.

Eisenhower was accompanied by his house guest—and Washington and Gettysburg, Pa., friend—George E. Allen. Later they played golf in cool, sunny weather at the Newport Country Club. Their companions were William E. Robinson of New York, board chairman of the Coca-Cola Co., and pro Norman Palmer.

'Modern GOP' Wing Seeks No. 2 Party Job In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's "modern Republicans" appear to be gravitating toward Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California as their candidate for assistant GOP leader.

Republican members who class themselves as all-out supporters of President Eisenhower's idea of modernizing their party hope to gain a foothold in the leadership hierarchy in the next Senate.

Because they now number less than a dozen, the modern Republicans have abandoned any hope of challenging Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois for the floor leadership post vacated by Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Dirksen has emphasized in recent months his support of Eisenhower's legislative proposals. But in the minds of most GOP politicians he remains irrevocably linked with the Taft wing of the party that fought Eisenhower at the 1952 convention.

Dirksen's elevation to floor commander would put three veterans of the political wars in top leadership places. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is expected to remain as Policy Committee chairman and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts as chairman of the Conference of All GOP Senators.

While Saltonstall has been a staunch Eisenhower backer, he is not generally regarded by the modern Republicans as one of them.

Senate Republicans traditionally have tried to maintain some rough geographic distribution of leadership posts. With two New Englanders and a Midwesterner in the lineup many of them think the assistant's post should go to the Far West.

End To A&P Strike Voted

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — Following the lead of fellow union members in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown, Ohio, divisions, employes of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. in the Altoona area Sunday voted to accept a new contract and end a three-day strike.

Over 1,000 of the Altoona Division workers voted to end the strike; only three opposed it. The Altoona division covers 80 stores, including two in Cumberland, Md.

R. F. Kleinschmidt, A&P vice president for the Altoona division, said the Altoona area stores will open Tuesday. Those in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown division are scheduled to open Monday. The strike started last Thursday.

The new one-year contract, approved by Pittsburgh and Youngstown division workers Saturday at a meeting in Pittsburgh, covers a total of 5,000 employes in 209 A&P stores.

Membership voting at both meetings was overwhelmingly in favor of the new agreement.

Clifton Caldwell, Local 590 president, said the union members had been averaging $81 a week and the increase would hike average weekly earnings to $86.60.

The Pittsburgh division includes a few stores in the Steubenville, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va. areas.

U. S. Pouring Weapons, Men Into Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—American men, missiles, fighter jets, transport planes and materiel are being poured into Formosa in a major military buildup to defend this island against possible Communist attack.

They also could be used in the defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu if President Eisenhower deemed active American defense of those shell-battered outposts essential to the defense of Formosa itself.

There have been no official announcements of the big buildup, but the following information comes from competent military personnel who cannot be identified:

1. A large engineering firm is already in Taipei with a crash program to build launching sites for American Nike-Hercules ground-to-air missiles.

2. The Nikes are either on Formosa or on the way. Military personnel in position to know confirm that.

3. Units of a composite air strike force already are on Formosa. Other units are on the way. This is described as one of the most mobile, fastest, hardest-hitting air task forces ever assembled.

4. F104 jets, which now hold world altitude and speed records for operational military planes, already are set on at least one Formosa base. Others are reported on the way.

5. C130 cargo transport planes also are on Formosan bases. These can carry 80 fully combat-equipped troops. They also could be used for evacuation of military dependents in event of an emergency.

6. Troop barrack areas, presumably to house incoming American troops are being laid out.

7. Complete, fully equipped joint operational control units to direct air combat have been moved into Formosa from other Pacific areas.

8. The first elements of an estimated 5,000 American manpower buildup are on the island. More are on the way.

9. At least three wings of U.S. jets manned by American fighter pilots now are based on Formosan fields. A wing normally was 75-80 planes, plus spares.

Ottawa Fire Death Toll Climbs To Six

OTTAWA (AP)—The death toll climbed to six Sunday from a fire in a three-story apartment-rooming house in central Ottawa.

Mrs. Jean Delaney, 32, died in a hospital from third-degree burns suffered in the fire Saturday.

Four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. August Buth, who came to Canada from Germany only a month ago, and a playmate of the Buth children died when trapped in a top-floor room.

Firefighters Have Job For Arsonist

LEXINGTON PARK, Md. (AP)—Volunteer firemen at this Southern Maryland community are looking for a firebug. But not to punish him. They want to put him to work.

A fire threat, especially during the fall of the year when the woods dry, are slash piles—heaps of rotting sawdust and scrap lumber left in wooded areas after timber operations. Firemen like to burn them under supervision so they won't become fire hazards later.

But the slash piles sometimes are hard to ignite.

Last week 30 men, seven trucks and the State Forestry Service were called out to quell three slash pile blazes, less than a half mile apart. Apparently they were set by juvenile arsonists.

Said Fire Chief George Zdinak, looking over the piles which may smoulder for weeks:

"We don't condone arson, but this kid we could use. We've poured a barrel of gasoline on these things without making them burn. If we could catch him, we'd have him light one while we watch. I'd like to know how the heck he did it."

Virginia School Crisis Moving Toward Climax

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Virginians waited tensely Sunday for the outcome of a pitched court battle this week when the state's integration problem may reach its climax with the closing of eight more schools in Norfolk and Charlottesville.

Attorneys for the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People held a top conference here Sunday, planning their next attack on the constitutionality of the Virginia school-closing law. But the state, in a new maneuver Saturday, may have beaten them to the punch.

Still more schools in Arlington County appeared headed toward the pattern set last week when Warren County High in Front Royal shut its doors under the Virginia law that closes integrated schools.

"You can bet your life we're going to do something," NAACP attorney Oliver Hill said.

What form the attack would take was not disclosed but there was speculation Hill might ask for a Federal Court injunction restraining the state from enforcing the school-closing law.

State officials, however, have already gone into the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals with a suit asking for a ruling on the constitutionality of the law. The suit was intended to put the crucial legal question in a state court where state officials believed their chances were better and where judicial processes, they hoped, would delay the final answer longer. State officials also believed the suit would keep the matter out of the federal courts.

Virginians also looked to Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to take the next step in the state's massive resistance program and try to reorganize the closed Warren County High School and to re-open it on a segregated basis.

Meanwhile, barring an unseen victory by state attorneys, it appeared only a matter of days before schools in Norfolk and Charlottesville would close.

Burglar, 78, Gives Trio Real Tussle

CHICAGO (AP)—Scrappy Ernest Ruler made quite an impression at the Burnside police station Sunday. At 78, police said, he's still a very vigorous burglar, and the oldest they ever brought in.

It took the combined efforts of the Hearne brothers—Dennis, 19, William, 24, and James, 28—to subdue him. They said they found him prowling through their South Side home early Sunday.

Officers at the station were impressed with the short, stocky Negro's strength and agility.

"He's like an old cat," said officer Jacob Vanderzanden. "You wouldn't want to tussle with him."

Vanderzanden said Ruler has a criminal record dating back to March 1909, and has spent 30 of his years in prison.

Ruler was quoted as saying, "I was just doing what I know best. I just can't break the habit."

Rebel Cannon Fire To Echo At Antietam

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A Confederate artillery unit next Saturday will be operating on nearby Antietam Battlefield for the first time since the Civil War.

The unit, complete with Rebel uniforms and pulled by six Rebel mules, will charge across a field along Bloody Lane. Its cannon will be swung into position and fired several times at 3 p. m.

Visitors from many parts of the country are expected to witness the operation, planned to mark the 96th anniversary of the Battle of Antietam. The Civil War battle saw the bloodiest single day of fighting ever recorded on the North American continent. It was fought September 17, 1862.

Members of the Hagerstown Civil War Roundtable and the Maryland Rodeo Club have teamed up to establish the Confederate artillery unit here to add "living history" to the nearby battlefield, and other Western Maryland historical points. Two dozen trips of the outfit — over 1,950 miles — are already planned for next year into nearby Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Persons in the Baltimore and Washington area interested in witnessing the September 20th operation may drive to Frederick and take Alternate U. S. Route 40 to Boonsboro. At Boonsboro turn left onto Maryland Route 34 to Sharpsburg. Signs will be found at Sharpsburg, directing visitors to Bloody Lane where the event will be staged.

Sharpsburg is a dozen miles south of Hagerstown along Maryland 65.

Weekend Accidents Kill 5 In Maryland

[By The Associated Press]

Accidents claimed at least five lives in Maryland during the weekend.

In addition, there was an Eastern Shore drowning that state police termed an apparent suicide.

Donald Lee Garris, 22, of Rt. 1, Hurlock, was fatally injured in Dorchester County Sunday when his northbound car ran off the road into a plowed field, swerved back onto the highway and overturned twice.

State Trooper R. C. Tindle said the accident happened at 5 a.m. on Maryland 331, about one mile north of Hurlock. Garris died seven hours later in Cambridge hospital.

An accidental drowning victim was identified as Alexander Tait McCormick of Easton, a 66-year-old employe of the State Roads Commission who went crabbing Saturday morning and didn't return.

His body was recovered about noon Sunday from Goldsboro Creek, about five miles northwest of Easton. He was pronounced dead of accidental drowning by Dr. Louis S. Welty, Talbot County deputy medical examiner.

Also at Easton, the body of James Harvey Boyce of Easton was recovered at 4 p. m. Sunday from the Tred Avon River at Easton Point, just outside the Easton city limits.

Dr. Welty pronounced Boyce dead of drowning. State Trooper R. T. Hancock termed the case an apparent suicide and said the 45-year-old father of two children had been despondent for some time.

Other weekend victims included:

Gary D. Patchen, a Navy man stationed at Patuxent Naval Air Station, fatally injured Sunday in a collision of his car and one driven by Joseph M. Johnson, 24, Negro, of (711 Harvard St., N.W.) Washington, D. C.

The accident happened at 1:11 a. m. on Maryland 5 at TB, Prince Georges County. Patchen died about an hour later at the Andrews Air Force Base hospital.

Mary Gaegler, 32, of (5723 29th Ave.) Hyattsville, Md., killed about 5 a. m. Sunday in a collision on Maryland 202 near Largo, Prince Georges County.

Hiram E. VanMeter, 48, of Elk Garden, W. Va., killed Saturday when his car missed a curve of U. S. 220 about eight miles south of Cumberland and crashed into an embankment.

'Modern GOP' Wing Seeks No. 2 Party Job In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's "modern Republicans" appear to be gravitating toward Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California as their candidate for assistant GOP leader.

Republican members who class themselves as all-out supporters of President Eisenhower's idea of modernizing their party hope to gain a foothold in the leadership hierarchy in the next Senate.

Because they now number less than a dozen, the modern Republicans have abandoned any hope of challenging Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois for the floor leadership post vacated by Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Dirksen has emphasized in recent months his support of Eisenhower's legislative proposals. But in the minds of most GOP politicians he remains irrevocably linked with the Taft wing of the party that fought Eisenhower at the 1952 convention.

Dirksen's elevation to floor commander would put three veterans of the political wars in top leadership places. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is expected to remain as Policy Committee chairman and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts as chairman of the Conference of All GOP Senators.

While Saltonstall has been a staunch Eisenhower backer, he is not generally regarded by the modern Republicans as one of them.

Senate Republicans traditionally have tried to maintain some rough geographic distribution of leadership posts. With two New Englanders and a Midwesterner in the lineup many of them think the assistant's post should go to the Far West.

End To A&P Strike Voted

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — Following the lead of fellow union members in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown, Ohio, divisions, employes of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. in the Altoona area Sunday voted to accept a new contract and end a three-day strike.

Over 1,000 of the Altoona Division workers voted to end the strike; only three opposed it. The Altoona division covers 80 stores, including two in Cumberland, Md.

R. F. Kleinschmidt, A&P vice president for the Altoona division, said the Altoona area stores will open Tuesday. Those in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown division are scheduled to open Monday. The strike started last Thursday.

The new one-year contract, approved by Pittsburgh and Youngstown division workers Saturday at a meeting in Pittsburgh, covers a total of 5,000 employes in 209 A&P stores.

Membership voting at both meetings was overwhelmingly in favor of the new agreement.

Clifton Caldwell, Local 590 president, said the union members had been averaging $81 a week and the increase would hike average weekly earnings to $86.60.

The Pittsburgh division includes a few stores in the Steubenville, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va. areas.

U. S. Pouring Weapons, Men Into Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—American men, missiles, fighter jets, transport planes and materiel are being poured into Formosa in a major military buildup to defend this island against possible Communist attack.

They also could be used in the defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu if President Eisenhower deemed active American defense of those shell-battered outposts essential to the defense of Formosa itself.

There have been no official announcements of the big buildup, but the following information comes from competent military personnel who cannot be identified:

1. A large engineering firm is already in Taipei with a crash program to build launching sites for American Nike-Hercules ground-to-air missiles.

2. The Nikes are either on Formosa or on the way. Military personnel in position to know confirm that.

3. Units of a composite air strike force already are on Formosa. Other units are on the way. This is described as one of the most mobile, fastest, hardest-hitting air task forces ever assembled.

4. F104 jets, which now hold world altitude and speed records for operational military planes, already are set on at least one Formosa base. Others are reported on the way.

5. C130 cargo transport planes also are on Formosan bases. These can carry 80 fully combat-equipped troops. They also could be used for evacuation of military dependents in event of an emergency.

6. Troop barrack areas, presumably to house incoming American troops are being laid out.

7. Complete, fully equipped joint operational control units to direct air combat have been moved into Formosa from other Pacific areas.

8. The first elements of an estimated 5,000 American manpower buildup are on the island. More are on the way.

9. At least three wings of U.S. jets manned by American fighter pilots now are based on Formosan fields. A wing normally was 75-80 planes, plus spares.

Ottawa Fire Death Toll Climbs To Six

OTTAWA (AP)—The death toll climbed to six Sunday from a fire in a three-story apartment-rooming house in central Ottawa.

Mrs. Jean Delaney, 32, died in a hospital from third-degree burns suffered in the fire Saturday.

Four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. August Buth, who came to Canada from Germany only a month ago, and a playmate of the Buth children died when trapped in a top-floor room.

Firefighters Have Job For Arsonist

LEXINGTON PARK, Md. (AP) —Volunteer firemen at this Southern Maryland community are looking for a firebug. But not to punish him. They want to put him to work.

A fire threat, especially during the fall of the year when the woods dry, are slash piles—heaps of rotting sawdust and scrap lumber left in wooded areas after timber operations. Firemen like to burn them under supervision so they won't become fire hazards later.

But the slash piles sometimes are hard to ignite.

Last week 30 men, seven trucks and the State Forestry Service were called out to quell three slash pile blazes, less than a half mile apart. Apparently they were set by juvenile arsonists.

Said Fire Chief George Zdinak, looking over the piles which may smoulder for weeks:

"We don't condone arson, but this kid we could use. We've poured a barrel of gasoline on these things without making them burn. If we could catch him, we'd have him light one while we watch. I'd like to know how the heck he did it."

Virginia School Crisis Moving Toward Climax

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Virginians waited tensely Sunday for the outcome of a pitched court battle this week when the state's integration problem may reach its climax with the closing of eight more schools in Norfolk and Charlottesville.

Attorneys for the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People held a top conference here Sunday, planning their next attack on the constitutionality of the Virginia school-closing law. But the state, in a new maneuver Saturday, may have beaten them to the punch.

Still more schools in Arlington County appeared headed toward the pattern set last week when Warren County High in Front Royal shut its doors under the Virginia law that closes integrated schools.

"You can bet your life we're going to do something," NAACP attorney Oliver Hill said.

What form the attack would take was not disclosed but there was speculation Hill might ask for a Federal Court injunction restraining the state from enforcing the school-closing law.

State officials, however, have already gone into the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals with a suit asking for a ruling on the constitutionality of the law. The suit was intended to put the crucial legal question in a state court where state officials believed their chances were better and where judicial processes, they hoped, would delay the final answer longer. State officials also believed the suit would keep the matter out of the federal courts.

Virginians also looked to Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to take the next step in the state's massive resistance program and try to re-organize the closed Warren County High School and to re-open it on a segregated basis.

Meanwhile, barring an unseen victory by state attorneys, it appeared only a matter of days before schools in Norfolk and Charlottesville would close.

Burglar, 78, Gives Trio Real Tussle

CHICAGO (AP) — Scrappy Ernest Ruler made quite an impression at the Burnside police station Sunday. At 78, police said, he's still a very vigorous burglar, and the oldest they ever brought in.

It took the combined efforts of the Hearne brothers—Dennis, 19, William, 24, and James, 28—to subdue him. They said they found him prowling through their South Side home early Sunday.

Officers at the station were impressed with the short, stocky Negro's strength and agility.

"He's like an old cat," said officer Jacob Vanderzanden. "You wouldn't want to tussle with him."

Vanderzanden said Ruler has a criminal record dating back to March 1909, and has spent 30 of his years in prison.

Rebel Cannon Fire To Echo At Antietam

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A Confederate artillery unit next Saturday will be operating on nearby Antietam Battlefield for the first time since the Civil War.

The unit, complete with Rebel uniforms and pulled by six Rebel mules, will charge across a field along Bloody Lane. Its cannon will be swung into position and fired several times at 3 p. m.

Visitors from many parts of the country are expected to witness the operation, planned to mark the 96th anniversary of the Battle of Antietam. The Civil War battle saw the bloodiest single day of fighting ever recorded on the North American continent. It was fought September 17, 1862.

Members of the Hagerstown Civil War Roundtable and the Maryland Rodeo Club have teamed up to establish the Confederate artillery unit here to add "living history" to the nearby battlefield, and other Western Maryland historical points. Two dozen trips of the outfit — over 1,950 miles — are already planned for next year into nearby Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Persons in the Baltimore and Washington area interested in witnessing the September 20th operation may drive to Frederick and take Alternate U. S. Route 40 to Boonsboro. At Boonsboro turn left onto Maryland Route 34 to Sharpsburg. Signs will be found at Sharpsburg, directing visitors to Bloody Lane where the event will be staged.

Sharpsburg is a dozen miles south of Hagerstown along Maryland 65.

Weekend Accidents Kill 5 In Maryland

[By The Associated Press]

Accidents claimed at least five lives in Maryland during the weekend.

In addition, there was an Eastern Shore drowning that state police termed an apparent suicide.

Donald Lee Garris, 22, of Rt. 1, Hurlock, was fatally injured in Dorchester County Sunday when his northbound car ran off the road into a plowed field, swerved back onto the highway and overturned twice.

State Trooper R. C. Tindle said the accident happened at 5 a.m. on Maryland 331, about one mile north of Hurlock. Garris died seven hours later in Cambridge hospital.

An accidental drowning victim was identified as Alexander Tait McCormick of Easton, a 66-year-old employe of the State Roads Commission who went crabbing Saturday morning and didn't return.

His body was recovered about noon Sunday from Goldsboro Creek, about five miles northwest of Easton. He was pronounced dead of accidental drowning by Dr. Louis S. Welty, Talbot County deputy medical examiner.

Also at Easton, the body of James Harvey Boyce of Easton was recovered at 4 p. m. Sunday from the Tred Avon River at Easton Point, just outside the Easton city limits.

Dr. Welty pronounced Boyce dead of drowning. State Trooper R. T. Hancock termed the case an apparent suicide and said the 45-year-old father of two children had been despondent for some time.

Other weekend victims included:

Gary D. Patchen, a Navy man stationed at Patuxent Naval Air Station, fatally injured Sunday in a collision of his car and one driven by Joseph M. Johnson, 24, Negro, of (711 Harvard St., N.W.) Washington, D. C.

The accident happened at 1:11 a. m. on Maryland 5 at TB, Prince Georges County. Patchen died about an hour later at the Andrews Air Force Base hospital.

Mary Gaegler, 32, of (5723 29th Ave.) Hyattsville, Md., killed about 5 a. m. Sunday in a collision on Maryland 202 near Largo, Prince Georges County.

Hiram E. VanMeter, 48, of Elk Garden, W. Va., killed Saturday when his car missed a curve of U. S. 220 about eight miles south of Cumberland and crashed into an embankment.

W.Va. Has Banner Corn Production

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service has predicted a banner year for corn production in West Virginia.

The service said it appears a record yield of 54 bushels per acre will be established. The early crop was harvested with a production of 8,370,000 bushels, 35 per cent above the comparable 1957 period.

The service said the peach harvest also was nearly completed. Peaches were described as being of "good quality" and the crop "above average." Growing conditions for apples remain excellent.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

No woman can enjoy an enviable reputation for appearance if she stands incorrectly.

For Your Waistline

Granted that the lean hip and the thigh line are needed for the chemise style dresses. But that doesn't mean you can let yourself go on a food orgy. There are plenty of Empire dresses that play up the handspan waist. Bulges can never be hidden.

So, to be the belle of the ball and to head the list of the most-admired women, keep a neat, trim, girlish figure. Learn to stand correctly. If you slump, your waistline will seem to take on inches. And you'll get that dowager's hump — which means old-age whatever the calendar years may say.

We're going to pass on a great secret to you here — the model formula for infusing ideal alignment with grace. Stand before a mirror and take these steps in turn. First lift your neck out of your shoulders keeping your chin parallel to the floor. Relax your shoulders. Never strain them forwards or backwards. Elevate your chest as on a deep breath.

Now, pull your waist up "out" of your hips. Retract the abdomen and "tuck" the hips under the body (both can be done readily if you gradually tilt the pelvis upward). Now see how much slimmer your waistline looks.

At first, this may seem a little strained; but if you concentrate on this pose long enough, your body will fall into line easily and naturally.

American carpets are truly international. It is possible for a single carpet to contain fibers from Argentina, New Zealand, Iran, India, Scotland and North Africa. This is because the wool in these countries compares favorably with that from U.S. sheep.

Unusual Interest Reported Among Garrett Democrats

OAKLAND—The Democratic State Central Committee and local party candidates have stepped up activity in the county-wide campaign, in an effort to put the county completely in the Democratic column on November 4, L. C. Hudson, chairman said last night.

In addition to regular campaign activity, headquarters here is completing a county-wide organization and more people are interested in the party's campaign than ever before, he observed. The guest register at headquarters, signed by all visitors, shows unusual activity, he observed.

All members of the county committee attended a fund raising dinner in Cumberland, sponsored by the Allegany County State Central Committee, and heard Paul M. Butler, national party chairman launch the opening attack on the GOP in Maryland.

Mrs. Helen T. Baumgartner, Eugene Coddington, Edward Crowe, George M. Browning and Darrell Wotring, along with Mr. Hudson were guests at the dinner, along with Dr. E. I. Baumgartner and several other Democrats.

The following day, members of the committee and local candidates accompanied Millard Tawes, candidate for governor and his running mates on the state ticket, as they toured the county.

The tour was climaxed with a reception at William James Hotel that evening. Dr. Baumgartner presented the state candidates and each spoke briefly. Local candidates were also presented. Assisting Mrs. Baumgartner in serving were Mrs. A. T. Matthews, Mrs. Joseph Gonder and Mrs. T. O. Deffinbaugh.

Mrs. Gonder is receptionist at Democratic headquarters and she has invited all interested persons to visit the office and get campaign literature and information about the campaign.

773 Enrolled At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Seven hundred and seventy-three students have been enrolled for the 1958-59 school term at Mt. Savage High School according to J. Hubert Radcliffe, principal.

Unusual Interest Reported Among Garrett Democrats

OAKLAND—The Democratic State Central Committee and local party candidates have stepped up activity in the county-wide campaign, in an effort to put the county completely in the Democratic column on November 4, L. C. Hudson, chairman said last night.

In addition to regular campaign activity, headquarters here is completing a county-wide organization and more people are interested in the party's campaign than ever before, he observed. The guest register at headquarters, signed by all visitors, shows unusual activity, he observed.

All members of the county committee attended a fund raising dinner in Cumberland, sponsored by the Allegany County State Central Committee, and heard Paul M. Butler, national party chairman launch the opening attack on the GOP in Maryland.

Mrs. Helen T. Baumgartner, Eugene Coddington, Edward Crowe, George M. Browning and Darrell Wotring, along with Mr. Hudson were guests at the dinner, along with Dr. E. I. Baumgartner and several other Democrats.

The following day, members of the committee and local candidates accompanied Millard Tawes, candidate for governor and his running mates on the state ticket, as they toured the county.

The tour was climaxed with a reception at William James Hotel that evening. Dr. Baumgartner presented the state candidates and each spoke briefly. Local candidates were also presented. Assisting Mrs. Baumgartner in serving were Mrs. A. T. Matthews, Mrs. Joseph Gonder and Mrs. T. O. Deffinbaugh.

Mrs. Gonder is receptionist at Democratic headquarters and she has invited all interested persons to visit the office and get campaign literature and information about the campaign.

773 Enrolled At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Seven hundred and seventy-three students have been enrolled for the 1958-59 school term at Mt. Savage High School according to J. Hubert Radcliffe, principal.

This number is slightly less than last year's registration but is an increase of 20 over the first school enrollment in 1952-53.

In the past seven years the enrollment which has remained rather stable has been uniquely characterized by the domination of boys. According to the current count, there are about twice as many boys as girls in the Senior High School and 21 more boys than girls in the Junior High School. For the first time, however, girls exceed by ten the number of boys in the elementary grades.

In charge this year are 34 faculty members, three of which are new to the system. Miss Ada Wiley recently returned from a teaching assignment in Labrador and will fill the position of business education instructor vacated by Robert MacMillan.

Bennett Arthur, formerly with the Suitland High School, Maryland, as English and speech instructor, replaces Bing Elliott as vocal music instructor; and Mrs. Patricia H. Butts, recent counselor of Bethel Park High School, Pa., succeeds Edward Meconi as counselor and social studies instructor.

JAILED FOR TATOOS

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Emmanuel Oliveiro, an Eurasian youth, Sunday was sentenced to seven years preventive detention because of tatoos on his chest and arms. The police prosecutor told the court one tatoo was the insignia of a "secret society" which he did not identify. The others included a "kissing couple," "a sailing vessel" and a "female red Indian," the prosecutor said.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Gene Tierney, who looks so wonderful, tells me that she is ready to make a picture. "Dr. Karl Menninger says I am completely cured and I feel now that all my sickness is behind me," Gene tells me.

Everyone has given Gene a great welcome here and she had dinner with Joan and Lew Schreiber, Mary and Delmer Daves and was to be at the Gracie (Allen) and George Burns party Sunday night. She's also visited 20th Century-Fox studio to talk over a picture.

"I can stay only a week," Gene said, "because I have to put my daughter Tina in school. She's 10 now and has been in Europe with her father, Oleg Cassini. They have become very good friends and he was wonderful to her all the time I was sick. Now she's come back to me and I want to be with her when she starts school."

You can be sure 20th Century-Fox, who held Gene's contract for so many years, will do some scurrying around to get a good story.

That Jerry Lewis, he never rests for a split minute. He starts "Don't Give Up the Ship" on Oct. 20 for Hal Wallis, and I say he gets a big break. Norman Taurog will be the director, and few men are better at handling comedy than Norman.

He made some of the best Jerry Lewis comedies and before that some of the best of the Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis pictures. I remember that Norman did all he could to hold the Martin - Lewis team together—until he realized it was hopeless.

Carl Foreman slipped into town quietly to discuss his next picture, "Guns of Narvarone," based on a story by Alistaire MacLean. He said he will make the picture in Greece, partly in Athens and partly on the Island of Corfu. He said he was given a great welcome in Greece and he was fearful at first that because of the trouble with Britain he might have difficulty.

He plans to make another motion picture following "Guns of Narvarone" right here in Hollywood and will move into the Columbia studio. "I hope this one will be an original," he said. "I think one trouble with our pictures is that we haven't enough confidence in ourselves. We buy successful plays and novels — what's ever happened to the great original comedies?"

British actress Margaret Leighton, who was the guest of honor at a barbecue dinner Sy Bartlett gave, tells me that she will rent Zsa Zsa Gabor's house while the Gabor is in Europe. "That will be kin about three weeks," she said, "which suits me fine because my husband, Laurence Harvey, will be here to stay then. He arrives Monday, but has to go to San Francisco first."

When I asked Margaret if she had had her face lifted, she laughed and said, "no, I wish I had." Everyone thinks she looks so much better and younger than she has in years. Margaret is here for "The Sound and the Fury" for 20th Century-Fox. It's her first visit to Hollywood. She is one of England's top actresses and has been for many years.

I would like to say right out loud how much I admire Eileen Thomas, Eddie Fisher's secretary who lives in the Fisher home and who has always helped Debbie with the children. Eileen was squarely in the middle when the trouble came, but her wisdom in handling the situation dealing with newsmen won the respect of everyone. She was a bulwark of strength.

She hoped and hoped to the very last there would be no breakup, but she feels as I do that Eddie will realize his "romance" will do him no good career-wise or any other way.

I am sure Cyd Charisse's ears must have burned when I was talking to Joe Pasternak about her. He said she is a credit to Hollywood, and this in addition to being beautiful and a good actress.

Joe is preparing "Ballerina," a story of a dancer of popular numbers who returns to the ballet. "There's a strong love story," he said, "and I know you're going to like her in 'Party Girl' which I have finally edited. 'Ballerina' is an original."

About seven million dollars are spent each year for sunburn remedies in the United States.

REPORTER RESIGNS

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI) — Maud Christian, official reporter for the McDowell Clunty Circuit Court for the past 15 years, turned in her resignation Friday to newly-appointed Judge W. H. Ballard. Miss Christian said she is joining the staff of former Judge Thornton Berry who resigned after winning Democratic nomination to the State gsupreme Court.

The first United States federal taxes to be introduced were import duties and an excise on distilled liquors.

What Are 'Equal' Rights For Indians?

The National Congress of American Indians, which opens a five-day conference today at Missoula, Montana, is still protesting a 1953 resolution of the U. S. Congress which, the Indians say, threaten their unity and way of life. This concurrent resolution declared it to be the policy of Congress "as rapidly as possible, to make the Indians . . . subject to the same laws and entitled to the same privileges and responsibilities as are applicable to other citizens of the United States."

But the National Congress of Indians views this policy as the latest in a historic series of government betrayals of the red man. It contends that Congress is giving the Indian no new rights, while taking away previous special privileges and services afforded him. John Collier, Commissioner of Indian Affairs from 1933 to 1945, said of the 1953 change in policy, "So-called assimilation means the abrogation of all treaties with the Indians and destruction of tribal self-government."

Congress went on in 1953 to confer on five states—California, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon, Wisconsin—jurisdiction with regard to criminal offenses and civil actions committed or arising on Indian reservations within the respective states. A last-minute addition to the legislation authorized any state, by its own action, to assume like jurisdiction.

The Indians saw this as jeopardizing the authority of tribal police and courts. Upon signing the bill, President Eisenhower voiced strong objection to the purpose of the added section and to its "most un-Christian approach." He urged Congress to remedy the measure by requiring consultation with affected Indians in advance of any extension of state authority.

Congress has so far failed to act.

The Central Asiatic Issue

The fighting in the Far East is not over two useless island groups, Quemoy and Matsu, nor is it over the conquest of Formosa. What is involved here is giving Red China a free hand to conquer the whole of the east of Asia which Red China and Soviet Russia are capable of doing but for the resistance of the United States. The defeat or the withdrawal of the U. S. Seventh Fleet from Asiatic waters would give to the Soviet Universal State not only Formosa but the Philippines, Indonesia and ultimately Malaya and Burma. India would then be reduced to a trembling satellite.

In the development of this world empire, no distinction can be made between Soviet Russia and Red China. Just as Mao Tze-tung was able to tell Nikita Khrushchev to change his position on a summit conference at the Security Council, so can Khrushchev say to Mao that he is in a tight corner concerning Lebanon and Jordan and he wants Mao to start a diversionary effort in the Far East.

The Soviet Universal State is one. Let me quote from "Pravda":

". . . The socialist camp is a brotherly, unshakable commonwealth of truly independent, truly equal peoples, united by the great and noble aims of building a new bright life. This unshakable commonwealth has its origin in life itself and faithfully serves the interests of the peoples of socialist countries, the interests of safeguarding and consolidating the peoples. Futile and useless are any attempts of the imperialist forces to spoil the unity of the socialist camp."

There has never been any question since the early 1920's that this statement of "Pravda's," namely, that the Soviet Universal State is a commonwealth of nations, is true. Those in the United States who thought or think otherwise and who believe that they can wean away Red China from Soviet Russia are whistling in the dark.

The immediate proof of how wrong they are is in the instant attack on Quemoy when relief was needed by the Kremlin from Middle East pressures. The mobility and flexibility of the Soviet Universal State or the socialist commonwealth as "Pravda" calls it, is effective not only in war but in politics. It means that Soviet Russia can withdraw from a situation that continues to be pressing upon the attention of the world. It means that Soviet Russia employs a shuttlecock device in diplomacy; now you see it, now you don't.

It is not only tantalizing but it must one day lead to a general war and when that day comes, there will be no neutrality, no nationalism, no territorial integrity. It will be two giant glaciers pushing against each other and what will be left will be a horrible terminal moraine of the rubble of our civilization.

This is the real danger and those who believe that such a danger can be averted by a soft policy have no conception of the nature and purposes of Marxism-Leninism. It is the conquest of the world. The "People's Daily" of Peking recently said:

"In the struggle waged by the people of our country to carry out high-speed construction so as to top Britain in 15 years or less, theoretical work must take up its responsibility. 'Practice produces theory.' The current great upsurge of construction in our country has provided the most fertile soil for great surging progress in theoretical work. The answer to this challenge now depends upon our subjective efforts."

Just as all Soviet Russian plans are designed to overcome the productive advantages of the United States, so all Red Chinese plans are designed to overcome the productive advantages of Great Britain. Each Communist country sets a goal which is not only designed to stimulate its own growth but to destroy some other country. It is not so much to destroy as to lessen such a country's effectiveness and ultimately so to weaken that nation that it cannot resist aggression from outside or treason from within.

The future commissars of the United States now sit in exile in Mexico City where there are about 2,000 of them. Always the Kremlin is ready with such a structure because the essence of Communist belief is the inevitability of their success. And always they are sure that Marxism will conquer from within because that has been their experience in so many countries.

White House Is Trying To Find Another Job For Sherman Adams

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about the exit of Sherman Adams is that the President and White House staff members have been trying to find a job for him before his resignation is announced. However, about 20 firms, some of whose executives are quite close to the President, have been sounded out, and not one wants to give a job to the man through whose hands the affairs of the nation have been funneled for the past six years. The scars of the Goldfine scandal are too fresh.

Consideration has also been given to a foreign post for Sherman Adams, something in the nature of a glorified survey of foreign aid. But the right groove so far hasn't turned up.

Adams has no private fortune, and Eisenhower doesn't want to see the man upon whom he has leaned so heavily for almost every domestic decision go back to sit in his house in New Hampshire without a job and with no money. Furthermore, the President may well feel a twinge of remorse over Adams' predicament, because he, Eisenhower, received gifts totaling a much greater value than the rugs, clothing, and hotel accommodations received by Sherman Adams.

So far White House spokesman Jim Hagerty has steadfastly claimed that no favors were given by the President in return for any of these gifts.

Oil Lease And Angus

However, some interesting facts have now turned up regarding one prize black Angus given to Eisenhower and an important government oil lease granted to the giver of the black Angus.

The Angus is Royal Oaks Blackbird, consigned to Ike's Gettysburg farm by the Caroland Angus Farms at Landrum, S. C. The Caroland Angus farms are owned by Ellis Slater, former head of Frankfort Oil and Frankfort Distillers, a part of the far-flung Seagrams whisky empire. Slater, a close friend of Eisenhower, purchased one of the prize Angus bulls of Maryland, Eva's Bandolier Ladd, for $30,000, and the latter's get have been producing some of the champions of the United States.

A gift of this bull's offspring is one not to be sneezed at in the cattle world.

White House aides vigorously deny that there was any connection between this gift and the oil lease to Slater's company which followed. However, officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Interior Department have always been mystified as to how this particular lease was put across despite their adamant opposition.

The lease was to drill oil in the government's long coveted Lacassine Wildlife Refuge in Louisiana, one of the most important bird sanctuaries in the nation. Four attempts had been made to drill for oil in this refuge while Oscar Chapman was Secretary of the Interior under Truman. All were vetoed.

One of those who applied was E. A. McKenna, who renewed his claim immediately after Eisenhower was elected. Again it was turned down. Pressure from conservation groups was too great. McKenna did not have enough influence.

Enter Ike's Friend

In order to get more influence, McKenna sold his claim to Slater's company, Frankfort Oil. This was in July 1955. Shortly thereafter, things began to move. On Sept. 30, 1955, the Frankfort people submitted a formal plan to permit them to drill for oil in the Lacassine Refuge. Interior Department officials said No. But that did not faze the man who was Ik's close friend and donor of the prize cow to Ike's farm. Frankfort officials indicated to Interior Department officials that they were confident their plan would be accepted.

It so happened that in December the Interior Department's Advisory Committee of Conservation was meeting and the Interior Department asked its opinion as to whether wildlife refuges should be opened for oil drilling. The committee's answer was No—based on historic precedent of about 50 years.

But without waiting for the reply, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay gave peremptory orders that a lease to Frankfort Oil in the Lacassine Refuge was to be issued. Despite the opposition of his subordinates, Secretary McKay not only issued the order, but minutes after he signed it, his special assistant, Harry J. Donohue, got on the phone to Earl Thomas, assistant director of the Bureau of Land Management, ordering him to place all pending oil-gas applications for game refuges ahead of all other business.

At this point Slater's company was the only applicant with an approved operating plan; so its leases were the only ones involved. It took only two working days to process them—unprecedented speed for government red tape, especially when it set a new precedent for oil operation in a wildlife refuge.

However, the claim which Slater's company acquired from McKenna expired on Dec. 7. The lease was signed just ahead of this deadline—Dec. 6—but conveniently dated back to Dec. 1—an amazing precedent even for a close friend of President Eisenhower.

The gift of the prize black Angus may have had nothing to do with this concession. But appearances count heavily in the mind of the public, and this is one reason Republicans were right when they criticized the receipt of hams and deep freezes under Truman.

The Bind We're In And How To Get Out Of It

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEH, Formosa

At first smell, the atmosphere here is not eye-of-warlike. The hope is that the Chinese Communists will finally content themselves with seizing one or more of the rocky islets, such as Tungting, which are not on the Washington "must defend" list of offshore islands.

If this is the outcome, the crisis in the Formosa Strait will finally simmer down into a relatively harmless fire of propaganda claims and counter claims. But even if we get off this cheaply, no one should forget for an instant that the American armed services intended to use nuclear weapons to defend Quemoy and the Matsus.

That is the present intention. That is what is going to happen if we are drawn into serious fighting here, unless Secretary of State John Foster Dulles persuades or forces the Pentagon leaders to change their plans. Dulles is convinced that a firm stand must be made. But Dulles is also convinced that everything possible should be done to avoid fighting a nuclear war for Quemoy.

Yet Dulles will have his work cut out for him to prevent the use of nuclear weapons, if his firm stand brings American forces into the fight. For one thing, as pointed out in a previous report, the armed services have strong arguments on their side. They have been gravely weakened for budgetary reasons. And this weakness has been theoretically compensated for by Presidential directives authorizing the use of nuclear weapons in almost any sort of fighting.

For another thing, the defense planning based on these directives has deeply influenced service thinking. One is told that tactical nuclear weapons "would really have to be used" for the simple task of interdicting the Communist airfields on the mainland which most directly threaten the offshore islands. Yet the much more numerous North Korean airfields were perfectly successfully interdicted with the conventional weapons, despite the rule against attacks beyond the Yalu.

Again, one is told, with better logic, that it is "unthinkable" for American ground forces to confront the formidable Chinese Communist ground forces without using nuclear weapons. Yet the area of interest is Fukien Province, a natural land island, largely cut off from the rest of China by surrounding mountains and easy to defend once it is taken. For just these reasons, an American landing in Fukien was by no means unthinkable in the last war. In fact, it was actually planned, although the Japanese armies in Asia were also fairly formidable.

In other words, the practice has grown up of saying "we can't do this, we can't do that," when the speakers really mean that it will be too expensive or too painful to do these things. But surely it is an evtraordinary delusion to think that there will be anything inexpensive or painless about a nuclear war with the chief ally of the Soviet Union, when the Kremlin already possesses a plentiful stock of nuclear weapons of all types.

On this head there are important technical arguments to consider. One of these arguments concerns the gain or loss to us of using nuclear weapons, if the continent-based Chinese forces are given similar weapons to use against us. Another argument concerns the effect on the Western Alliance of a nuclear war starting on Quemoy. Still another argument concerns the effect on our own nuclear striking power, if our allies deny us the use of our overseas airbases for such a war, and thus cripple the 80 per cent of Strategic Air Command squadrons that are equipped with medium range bombers.

But it is clear that these technical arguments are being lightly weighed. It is clear, in fact, that all the Pentagon thinking about the use of nuclear weapons in this wretched conflict is dominated by the conviction that the nuclear striking power of the United States is still superior to the nuclear striking power of the Soviet Union.

This is true, of course. We are now near the end, but we have not reached the end of the period of the American lead. We are now close to the period, but we have not yet entered the period when our defense plans will flaccidly permit the Soviets to acquire an enormous supericrity in nuclear striking power.

There are strong indications that certain key figures in the armed services have just these grim facts very much on their minds. Hence they are not averse to having a nuclear showdown now. If such a showdown is tragically inevitable, it is certainly better to have it now than later. To this extent, this view is logical.

But it is altogether illogical to suppose that we are going to get round the next corner or the corner after that, if we get safely round this corner of the offshore islands. The leaders of the government and the leaders of the services may tell themselves they are going to be very bold and firm in the future. But they are lying to themselves. They will not be bold and firm about such issues as the offshore islands, and they will not risk nuclear war for much more important issues either, when the Soviets have been allowed to gain commanding superiority in nuclear striking power.

Any fool can foresee that much. At a minimum therefore, this offshore islands crisis is as a glaring revelation of the bind we are in. It should also be taken as final proof of the need to make the greatest and most urgent efforts to escape from this bind, by radically altered and boldly expanded defense plans.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just realize the Senators traveled fifty years on the coat-tails of the great Walter Johnson.

Once in a while they have come up with a great shortstop or outfielder. But no pitcher could ever carry Johnson's resin bag.

The original Clark Griffith loved baseball but operated on shorter dough than a cookie baker.

Clark lived on such tight economy he would send a spider's web to the laundry. When the Washingtons won sixteen games on the road in 1912 he jacked the prices.

So the real fans never gandered the winning streak because the team lost the first home game to the Athletics. And Griff also lost his fans.

I saw that game which was lost on a tight decision at home plate in the ninth inning. Otherwise Griff would have had a nice take-home bundle that year.

The fans never did come back after that one. And when Walter Johnson came to the knots in his ball of string then Griff packed in also.

I will never know how Washington lasted this long. It is a terrific case of suspended animation.

Some Medical Problems Of Space Travel

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The monotony of living out of this world is hard to take. It is a tremendous emotional strain and the first person to return from Mars is likely to be a mental case, unless something can be done to overcome his loneliness. Will visitors to the moon become lunatics?

Air force crews in unrelieved confinement on a simulated trip begin seeing little men in their cockpit dials after 30 sleepless hours. Outer space has the appearance of a dim twilight with no day or night and no air to carry sound. The traveler to Mars must face this monotonous environment for two or more years. The trip takes 258 days each way, plus a wait of 455 days on Mars to catch the earth in its orbit.

The psychological problems of space travel are the least of our worries. The rocket needs equipment that gives the crew the same environment and all the benefits of mother earth. Oxygen must be taken in a sealed cabin or capsule. Pressurized equipment is too bulky to be practical above 80,000 feet.

In addition, there is no air to compress and the atmosphere contains toxic amounts of ozone. The exhaled carbon dioxide must be disposed of. Speculations have been made of the use of algae that absorb carbon dioxide, give up oxygen, and can be used for food.

Weightlessness occurs when the rocket's propulsive motor is shut off after reaching the altitude where the earth's pull of gravity no longer exists. This is manifested by weird sensations of floating, tumbling, falling, rolling, and standing upside down. Elimination of body wastes and the mechanisms of swallowing food and drink depend partially upon gravity. What happens, for example, when milk is poured from a container? Does it flow out, down, up, or sideways?

The success of space travel depends upon man's ability to orient himself to that environment. Speed affects vision and circulation to the brain. Motion sickness develops in some, whereas others become confused and disoriented. Various technological problems center about cosmic rays, protection against meteorites, day-night cycling, and toxicity of rocket fuels. But all these factors will be overcome; spaceships should become a reality in the next few years.

INDENTED SKIN

Mrs. I. B. writes: In the morning, when I get up, I have sunken places mostly on my arms and shoulders where I have been lying. Is this a sign of dropsy?

REPLY

No. Indentations in the skin are not unusual after pressure is applied for some time. In dropsy, the tissues are waterlogged and it is possible to make an indentation by simply pressing over the swollen part. If you had dropsy you would be more concerned with swelling about your ankles and legs during the day time.

WALKING

H. N. writes: Why do you recommend walking as a good exercise, since it exercises only the legs?

REPLY

Did you ever try to walk without moving your arms, shoulders, and trunk. It would prove awkward and tiresome.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Satchel Paige, who was pitching big-time baseball when Mickey Mantle and Stan Musial were wearing diapers, still is saving games for the Miami Marlins—and keeping teammates in good humor with his di-does.

On an airliner bound for Toronto recently, the Miami players were killing time playing Ghosts, a parlor game in which each player in turn has to add a letter to a word without completing same. Three losses and a player is eliminated.

It was old Satch's turn to start a word, and he boldly called out, "Q."

"That's ridiculous, Satch," chuckled another player. "You don't know no words beginning with 'Q'."

"I don't, hey?" answered Paige. "How about cucumber, boy? Pay up!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

He was a fat man with the face of an old lion and his name was Heywood Broun. He sat wheezing and thinking about the question, the wheels of his bright and compassionate mind whirling swiftly. "What would be the greatest story of all time?" he said. "I'd say proof of the hereafter."

For some years, Mr. Broun has been in the hereafter. He has the proof. He knows all the answers. But he cannot impart his current knowledge to a younger reporter. Nobody can. The story will never materialize. If we had the proof, the first requisite for belief in God — faith — would no longer be necessary.

Faith is the most important of all the human gifts. Without it, the world becomes unhinged. How long would one marriage last without faith? When you pick a youngster up, he has faith that you will not drop him. If he didn't, he would be convulsed with fear. Without faith, there would be no partnerships, no loans, no agreements, no diplomacy, no science.

Man has split an atom. He hasn't seen it. How did he know that it was there? When a navigator charts a course over an ocean, how does he know that the right piece of land will be dead ahead a week from now? When an old lady steps off a curb on a green light, she has faith that the oncoming automobiles will stop in time.

Mind you, when Broun posed the idea for his great story, he did not ask for proof of God. In the evening of his life, the great reporter believed. There are millions of people in the world who believe in God but who are certain that there is no hereafter—no heaven—no place to go but the grave. He wanted proof of a hereafter.

The Old Testament and the New are full of references to the promises of God to man. If one believes in Him, how can it be doubted that He will welcome the children of faith to His kingdom? The good father must always be portrayed as understanding and forgiving.

Proof is another matter. It not only eliminates the primary need of faith, but it would, in time, alter the fruitfulness of man by making him seek death and the rewards of eternity instead of continuing a struggle for bread and life. What would be the point of working on this sorry ball of mud if we had proof that life everlasting, as it were, was in the bag?

The days of pure ecstasy here are few. The days of worry and discontent are numerous. Who wants this when he can have that? However, with all the faith at our command we are left with an instinct to live on and on, past our bedtime. We try to stay here because we are afraid of the unknown. If we knew for sure, it would be different.

And knowing would do us no more good than knowing the exact date of our individual exits. In my family, the elders used to say that it is not good to know certain things. I was young and I smiled at their snobbish ignorance. Now I understand. Knowledge is fleeting; wisdom is permanent. They were right.

It is not necessary to be a divine to understand God and what He expects of us and what He has promised. All one needs is a small degree of literacy and an open mind. Faith is the most easily reviled of all the virtues. I can read the Bible and you can tell me that it is phony and I cannot prove that you are wrong. I can tell my best friend that his wife has betrayed him and, if he has genuine faith, he will not believe me.

Still, he cannot prove that I am wrong. Faith implies an absence of proof. You have it or you do not. If you do not, then you have cancer of the soul and you will end up believing in nothing, including yourself. If you say: "I do not believe because I do not know" — that is different. This condition can be corrected by consulting someone who knows; someone who can inspire faith in the faithless.

A week ago last Sunday, a woman stopped at my house. Her husband had died six weeks before. For her, the world was at an end. They were religious people and she could not understand why he was taken away so quickly.

"If you have faith," another woman said softly, "what does it matter that he preceded you by a month, a year, or a decade? Visit an old cemetery. You will find that a man died in 1809 and his wife died n 1829. Looking back, does the 20-year difference really matter?

"It's nothing but the wink in the eye of a star."

The Caroland Angus farms are owned by Ellis Slater, former head of Frankfort Oil and Frankfort Distillers, a part of the far-flung Seagrams whisky empire. Slater, a close friend of Eisenhower, purchased one of the prize Angus bulls of Maryland, Eva's Bandolier Ladd, for $30,000, and the latter's get have been producing some of the champions of the United States.

A gift of this bull's offspring is one not to be sneezed at in the cattle world.

White House aides vigorously deny that there was any connection between this gift and the oil lease to Slater's company which followed. However, officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Interior Department have always been mystified as to how this particular lease was put across despite their adamant opposition.

The lease was to drill oil in the government's long coveted Lacassine Wildlife Refuge in Louisiana, one of the most important bird sanctuaries in the nation. Four attempts had been made to drill for oil in this refuge while Oscar Chapman was Secretary of the Interior under Truman. All were vetoed.

One of those who applied was E. A. McKenna, who renewed his claim immediately after Eisenhower was elected. Again it was turned down. Pressure from conservation groups was too great. McKenna did not have enough influence.

Enter Ike's Friend

In order to get more influence, McKenna sold his claim to Slater's company, Frankfort Oil. This was in July 1955. Shortly thereafter, things began to move. On Sept. 30, 1955, the Frankfort people submitted a formal plan to permit them to drill for oil in the Lacassine Refuge. Interior Department officials said No. But that did not faze the man who was Ik's close friend and donor of the prize cow to Ike's farm. Frankfort officials indicated to Interior Department officials that they were confident their plan would be accepted.

It so happened that in December the Interior Department's Advisory Committee of Conservation was meeting and the Interior Department asked its opinion as to whether wildlife refuges should be opened for oil drilling. The committee's answer was No—based on historic precedent of about 50 years.

But without waiting for the reply, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay gave peremptory orders that a lease to Frankfort Oil in the Lacassine Refuge was to be issued. Despite the opposition of his subordinates, Secretary McKay not only issued the order, but minutes after he signed it, his special assistant, Harry J. Donohue, got on the phone to Earl Thomas, assistant director of the Bureau of Land Management, ordering him to place all pending oil-gas applications for game refuges ahead of all other business.

At this point Slater's company was the only applicant with an approved operating plan; so its leases were the only ones involved. It took only two working days to process them—unprecedented speed for government red tape, especially when it set a new precedent for oil operation in a wildlife refuge.

However, the claim which Slater's company acquired from McKenna expired on Dec. 7. The lease was signed just ahead of this deadline—Dec. 6—but conveniently dated back to Dec. 1—an amazing precedent even for a close friend of President Eisenhower.

The gift of the prize black Angus may have had nothing to do with this concession. But appearances count heavily in the mind of the public, and this is one reason Republicans were right when they criticized the receipt of hams and deep freezes under Truman.

The Bind We're In And How To Get Out Of It

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEH, Formosa

At first smell, the atmosphere here is not eye-of-warlike. The hope is that the Chinese Communists will finally content themselves with seizing one or more of the rocky islets, such as Tungting, which are not on the Washington "must defend" list of offshore islands.

If this is the outcome, the crisis in the Formosa Strait will finally simmer down into a relatively harmless fire of propaganda claims and counter claims. But even if we get off this cheaply, no one should forget for an instant that the American armed services intended to use nuclear weapons to defend Quemoy and the Matsus.

That is the present intention. That is what is going to happen if we are drawn into serious fighting here, unless Secretary of State John Foster Dulles persuades or forces the Pentagon leaders to change their plans. Dulles is convinced that a firm stand must be made. But Dulles is also convinced that everything possible should be done to avoid fighting a nuclear war for Quemoy.

Yet Dulles will have his work cut out for him to prevent the use of nuclear weapons, if his firm stand brings American forces into the fight. For one thing, as pointed out in a previous report, the armed services have strong arguments on their side. They have been gravely weakened for budgetary reasons. And this weakness has been theoretically compensated for by Presidential directives authorizing the use of nuclear weapons in almost any sort of fighting.

For another thing, the defense planning based on these directives has deeply influenced service thinking. One is told that tactical nuclear weapons "would really have to be used" for the simple task of interdicting the Communist airfields on the mainland which most directly threaten the offshore islands. Yet the much more numerous North Korean airfields were perfectly successfully interdicted with the conventional weapons, despite the rule against attacks beyond the Yalu.

Again, one is told, with better logic, that it is "unthinkable" for American ground forces to confront the formidable Chinese Communist ground forces without using nuclear weapons. Yet the area of interest is Fukien Province, a natural land island, largely cut off from the rest of China by surrounding mountains and easy to defend once it is taken. For just these reasons, an American landing in Fukien was by no means unthinkable in the last war. In fact, it was actually planned, although the Japanese armies in Asia were also fairly formidable.

In other words, the practice has grown up of saying "we can't do this, we can't do that," when the speakers really mean that it will be too expensive or too painful to do these things. But surely it is an extraordinary delusion to think that there will be anything inexpensive or painless about a nuclear war with the chief ally of the Soviet Union, when the Kremlin already possesses a plentiful stock of nuclear weapons of all types.

On this head there are important technical arguments to consider. One of these arguments concerns the gain or loss to us of using nuclear weapons, if the continent-based Chinese forces are given similar weapons to use against us. Another argument concerns the effect on the Western Alliance of a nuclear war starting on Quemoy. Still another argument concerns the effect on our own nuclear striking power, if our allies deny us the use of our overseas airbases for such a war, and thus cripple the 80 per cent of Strategic Air Command squadrons that are equipped with medium range bombers.

But it is clear that these technical arguments are being lightly weighed. It is clear, in fact, that all the Pentagon thinking about the use of nuclear weapons in this wretched conflict is dominated by the conviction that the nuclear striking power of the United States is still superior to the nuclear striking power of the Soviet Union.

This is true, of course. We are now near the end, but we have not reached the end of the period of the American lead. We are now close to the period, but we have not yet entered the period when our defense plans will flaccidly permit the Soviets to acquire an enormous superiority in nuclear striking power.

There are strong indications that certain key figures in the armed services have just these grim facts very much on their minds. Hence they are not averse to having a nuclear showdown now. If such a showdown is tragically inevitable, it is certainly better to have it now than later. To this extent, this view is logical.

But it is altogether illogical to suppose that we are going to get round the next corner or the corner after that, if we get safely round this corner of the offshore islands. The leaders of the government and the leaders of the services may tell themselves they are going to be very bold and firm in the future. But they are lying to themselves. They will not be bold and firm about such issues as the offshore islands, and they will not risk nuclear war for much more important issues either, when the Soviets have been allowed to gain commanding superiority in nuclear striking power.

Any fool can foresee that much. At a minimum therefore, this offshore islands crisis is as a glaring revelation of the bind we are in. It should also be taken as final proof of the need to make the greatest and most urgent efforts to escape from this bind, by radically altered and boldly expanded defense plans.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just realize the Senators traveled fifty years on the coat-tails of the great Walter Johnson.

Once in a while they have come up with a great shortstop or outfielder. But no pitcher could ever carry Johnson's resin bag.

The original Clark Griffith loved baseball but operated on shorter dough than a cookie baker.

Clark lived on such tight economy he would send a spider's web to the laundry. When the Washingtons won sixteen games on the road in 1912 he jacked the prices.

So the real fans never gandered the winning streak because the team lost the first home game to the Athletics. And Griff also lost his fans.

I saw that game which was lost on a tight decision at home plate in the ninth inning. Otherwise Griff would have had a nice take-home bundle that year.

The fans never did come back after that one. And when Walter Johnson came to the knots in his ball of string then Griff packed in also.

I will never know how Washington lasted this long. It is a terrific case of suspended animation.

Some Medical Problems Of Space Travel

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The monotony of living out of this world is hard to take. It is a tremendous emotional strain and the first person to return from Mars is likely to be a mental case, unless something can be done to overcome his loneliness. Will visitors to the moon become lunatics?

Air force crews in unrelieved confinement on a simulated trip begin seeing little men in their cockpit dials after 30 sleepless hours. Outer space has the appearance of a dim twilight with no day or night and no air to carry sound. The traveler to Mars must face this monotonous environment for two or more years. The trip takes 258 days each way, plus a wait of 455 days on Mars to catch the earth in its orbit.

The psychological problems of space travel are the least of our worries. The rocket needs equipment that gives the crew the same environment and all the benefits of mother earth. Oxygen must be taken in a sealed cabin or capsule. Pressurized equipment is too bulky to be practical above 80,000 feet.

In addition, there is no air to compress and the atmosphere contains toxic amounts of ozone. The exhaled carbon dioxide must be disposed of. Speculations have been made of the use of algae that absorb carbon dioxide, give up oxygen, and can be used for food.

Weightlessness occurs when the rocket's propulsive motor is shut off after reaching the altitude where the earth's pull of gravity no longer exists. This is manifested by weird sensations of floating, tumbling, falling, rolling, and standing upside down. Elimination of body wastes and the mechanisms of swallowing food and drink depend partially upon gravity. What happens, for example, when milk is poured from a container? Does it flow out, down, up, or sideways?

The success of space travel depends upon man's ability to orient himself to that environment. Speed affects vision and circulation to the brain. Motion sickness develops in some, whereas others become confused and disoriented. Various technological problems center about cosmic rays, protection against meteorites, day-night cycling, and toxiicity of rocket fuels. But all these factors will be overcome; spaceships should become a reality in the next few years.

INDENTED SKIN

Mrs. I. B. writes: In the morning, when I get up, I have sunken places mostly on my arms and shoulders where I have been lying. Is this a sign of dropsy?

REPLY

No. Indentations in the skin are not unusual after pressure is applied for some time. In dropsy, the tissues are waterlogged and it is possible to make an indentation by simply pressing over the swollen part. If you had dropsy you would be more concerned with swelling about your ankles and legs during the day time.

WALKING

H. N. writes: Why do you recommend walking as a good exercise, since it exercises only the legs?

REPLY

Did you ever try to walk without moving your arms, shoulders, and trunk. It would prove awkward and tiresome.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Satchel Paige, who was pitching big-time baseball when Mickey Mantle and Stan Musial were wearing diapers, still is saving games for the Miami Marlins—and keeping teammates in good humor with his di-does.

On an airliner bound for Toronto recently, the Miami players were killing time playing Ghosts, a parlor game in which each player in turn has to add a letter to a word without completing same. Three losses and a player is eliminated.

It was old Satch's turn to start a word, and he boldly called out, "Q."

"That's ridiculous, Satch," chuckled another player. "You don't know no words beginning with 'Q'."

"I don't, hey?" answered Paige. "How about cucumber, boy? Pay up!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

He was a fat man with the face of an old lion and his name was Heywood Broun. He sat wheezing and thinking about the question, the wheels of his bright and compassionate mind whirling swiftly. "What would be the greatest story of all time?" he said. "I'd say proof of the hereafter."

For some years, Mr. Broun has been in the hereafter. He has the proof. He knows all the answers. But he cannot impart his current knowledge to a younger reporter. Nobody can. The story will never materialize. If we had the proof, the first requisite for belief in God — faith — would no longer be necessary.

Faith is the most important of all the human gifts. Without it, the world becomes unhinged. How long would one marriage last without faith? When you pick a youngster up, he has faith that you will not drop him. If he didn't, he would be convulsed with fear. Without faith, there would be no partnerships, no loans, no agreements, no diplomacy, no science.

Man has split an atom. He hasn't seen it. How did he know that it was there? When a navigator charts a course over an ocean, how does he know that the right piece of land will be dead ahead a week from now? When an old lady steps off a curb on a green light, she has faith that the oncoming automobiles will stop in time.

Mind you, when Broun posed the idea for his great story, he did not ask for proof of God. In the evening of his life, the great reporter believed. There are millions of people in the world who believe in God but who are certain that there is no hereafter—no heaven—no place to go but the grave. He wanted proof of a hereafter.

The Old Testament and the New are full of references to the promises of God to man. If one believes in Him, how can it be doubted that He will welcome the children of faith to His kingdom? The good father must always be portrayed as understanding and forgiving.

Proof is another matter. It not only eliminates the primary need of faith, but it would, in time, alter the fruitfulness of man by making him seek death and the rewards of eternity instead of continuing a struggle for bread and life. What would be the point of working on this sorry ball of mud if we had proof that life everlasting, as it were, was in the bag?

The days of pure ecstasy here are few. The days of worry and discontent are numerous. Who wants this when he can have that? However, with all the faith at our command we are left with an instinct to live on and on, past our bedtime. We try to stay here because we are afraid of the unknown. If we knew for sure, it would be different.

And knowing would do us no more good than knowing the exact date of our individual exits. In my family, the elders used to say that it is not good to know certain things. I was young and I smiled at their snobbish ignorance. Now I understand. Knowledge is fleeting; wisdom is permanent. They were right.

It is not necessary to be a divine to understand God and what He expects of us and what He has promised. All one needs is a small degree of literacy and an open mind. Faith is the most easily reviled of all the virtues. I can read the Bible and you can tell me that it is phony and I cannot prove that you are wrong. I can tell my best friend that his wife has betrayed him and, if he has genuine faith, he will not believe me.

Still, he cannot prove that I am wrong. Faith implies an absence of proof. You have it or you do not. If you do not, then you have cancer of the soul and you will end up believing in nothing, including yourself. If you say: "I do not believe because I do not know" — that is different. This condition can be corrected by consulting someone who knows; someone who can inspire faith in the faithless.

A week ago last Sunday, a woman stopped at my house. Her husband had died six weeks before. For her, the world was at an end. They were religious people and she could not understand why he was taken away so quickly.

"If you have faith," another woman said softly, "what does it matter that he preceded you by a month, a year, or a decade? Visit an old cemetery. You will find that a man died in 1809 and his wife died n 1829. Looking back, does the 20-year difference really matter?

Cumberland Launches Third 12-Day Race Meet Today

AT HELM 4TH YEAR—Harry J. Barton is serving his fourth year as general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association which opens its 34th race meeting today. Mr. Barton, well known dairyman and sportsman, took over the reins on October 11, 1954, almost three months following the death of Edgar H. "Buck" Reynolds. He is the sixth general manager of the association since Fairgo was opened as a harness racing track in 1924.

Barrelville Cops Second In Row From Zihlman, 3-2

Bobby Raines Wins Own Game; Johnson Hits 2-Run Homer

Barrelville's Old Exports spotted Zihlman two runs in the third ted Zihlman two runs in the third lies in the seventh and eighth frames to make it two straight wins in the final playoff series of the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday at Zihlman. The score was 3-2.

Curtis Johnson's circuit belt following a single by Jack Anderson gave Zihlman a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning and it was not until the seventh stanza that the Old Exports knotted the score.

Bobby Raines opened the rally with a single and pinch-hitter Woody Woodson scored him with a timely triple. Harold Hudson's base wallop sent Woodson home with the tying marker.

Barrelville sewed up the game in the eighth when Linn singled, advanced to second when Stickley walked and scored when Bobby Raines won his own game with a single.

Raines limited Zihlman to five hits, Johnson's four-master, Ronnie Diehl's double and single, Bill Haberlein's two-base blow and a single by Anderson. The Barrelville hurler issued only one base on balls and fanned 10 in posting his 10th win against four losses. Bobby fanned the side in the third and eighth innings. He has notched three wins in the playoffs, beating Hyndman, 2-1 and 6-4 in ten innings, and Zihlman.

Harold Hudson and Raines shared four of the seven hits yielded by Lefty Bill Haberlein, who struck out seven and issued only one pass.

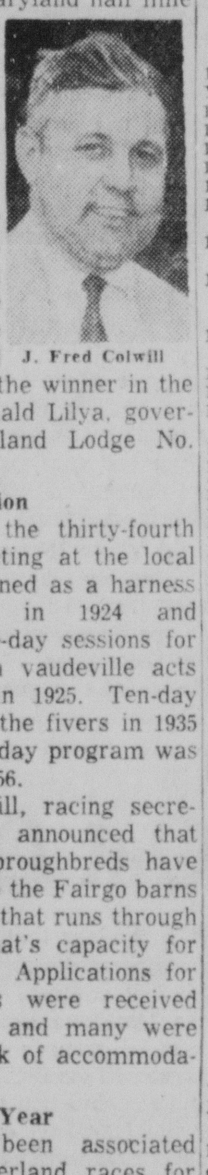
Moose Purse Is Feature; 450 Horses Stabled Here

First Race 2 P.M.; Colwill Secretary 9th Straight Year



J. Fred Colwill

Fairgo's barns are bulging with horseflesh representing many of the leading stables vying for purses on the Maryland half mile ovals as the Cumberland Fair Association launches its third 12-day race meeting today at 2 p. m., EDT.

Inaugural day has been designed as Loyal Order of Moose Day and a purse will be presented to the owner of the winner in the 7th race by Donald Lilya, governor of Cumberland Lodge No. 271.

34th Local Session

This will be the thirty-fourth consecutive meeting at the local track which opened as a harness racing course in 1924 and switched to five-day sessions for flat racing with vaudeville acts from the fair in 1925. Ten-day meets replaced the fivers in 1935 and the first 12-day program was presented in 1956.

J. Fred Colwill, racing secretary, yesterday announced that close to 450 thoroughbreds have been assigned to the Fairgo barns for the meeting that runs through Sept. 27 and that's capacity for the local plant. Applications for over 500 stalls were received from horsemen and many were shut out for lack of accommodations.

Colwill's Tenth Year

Colwill has been associated with the Cumberland races for ten years. He made his debut as director of racing in 1949 when "Ty" Shea was secretary and for the past eight years has served as secretary. He came here Friday from Timonium where he holds a similar post.

The supporting cast of officials includes Eddie Blind, the dapper Canadian, who will be in the starter's stand for the fourth year; Robert C. Littleton, of Hagerstown, director of wagering here for the fifth straight season; stewards Joseph Flanagan, William Harron and A. Charles Stewart; placing judges Melvin Mackin, who worked the same job this year at Arlington and Washington Park in Chicago, Henry Erickson, one-time jockey, and Gene Gunning, a member of the Fourth Estate.

Merrall MacNeille will return in the role of clerk of the scales; George Cook, one-time owner and trainer, will serve as paddock judge and timer, and Joe Brocator, who is secretary at Charles Town, William Trundle and Dan Shanklin are the patrol judges. The latter also will take over the duties of horse identifier. Last but not least is Johnny Bejshak, the one-time jockey, who will be the custodian of the local riding colony. Bejshak will be best remembered as the rider who scored many triumphs aboard Discovery, the famed weight-carrying champion, who died last month at the age of 27 at Sagamore Farm in Maryland.

Raymond "The Voice" Haight will be the announcer at the public address system for the second straight year. He's the son of Walter "The Thin Man" Haight, Washington newspaper racing expert.

Clark Defends Title

William Clark, of Mt. Holly, N. J., who booted home a record 26 winners here in 1956 and again headed the winning riders last year with 13 firsts will be here to defend his title. Clark comes here for the 9th year. His record is 90-56-48 at Fairgo.

Other saddlesmiths expected to vie for the honors here include Anthony Russo, Gus Pappas, Lamar "Always Available" Bauer, Patsy Grant, who has been riding here since way back when—, Tommy Lee, the Chinese lad, who had 11 winners here last year as an apprentice, Stanley Small, Carl Gambardella, Eddie McIvor, William Liddle; Ray Mikkonen, James Fitzgerald, Rocco Sisto, Jay Hause, Richard Ford, Earl Phelps and Ray Drury.

Heading the bug boys, or riders who have won less than 40 races, are Larry Reynolds, who is under contract to C. D. Lee; Ernest Seaman and "Cadillac Jack" Sollars. Among the missing will be Joe Servis, who suffered a broken ankle during a workout at Pimlico and Melvin Gerst, whose leg was fractured at York, Pa.

Top Trainers Listed

Among the trainers returning to the local half miler are N. J. Greco, of Laurel, who is conditioning a large stable, and has not been here for several years; James K. Fockler, Hagerstown, who saddled four winners in 1956; Louis E. "Mandy" Torreyson, Ray Vogelman, Mrs. George "Babe" Saportas, who headed the trainers here in 1948, 1949, 1950, 1952 and 1953 and had a record of 11 winners in 1952; Don Yates, back after a long layoff; Owen Follin, Jay Sensenich, "Red" Kent, Edward Leslie Miller, Stanley Moxley, R. L. "Peg" Hanna, Joseph J. "Frenchy" Pichot, Ambrose and Robert Cremen, William D. Thomas, Elwood Kirk, Earl Auld, J. M. P. Bell, A. J. "Tony" Delloso, of Rosetree, Pa.; Fred Clatterbuck, Robert Hilton, Charles George, Harold M. Gilbert and others.

Shirley Payne, of Berryville, Va., who handles several horses owned by Arthur Godfrey, will campaign here and among the missing is William G. Myers, leading trainer here in 1957 with six winners. Bill is not in racing this year.

Handicap Stars Here

Scotch View, which finished second to Hoosier Honey in the $5,000 Timonium Handicap on Saturday, and Ware and Briar Show which ran in the same race, are here. Among the other better horses stabled at Fairgo are Princeton, Chilton, Naughty Lad, His Proof and Bete Noir.

Round Table, Gallant Man Meet Sept. 27

Millionaire Bows To Clem 2nd Time

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Round Table headed for New York Sunday and a climactic meeting with Gallant Man in the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park after suffering his second straight defeat by Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem.

Again in the U.N., and packing only 113 pounds, Clem fought for the lead with Liberty Sun, and after putting him away going to the far turn, he held off the desperate stretch charge of Round Table, beating him by half a length.

In the mile and one-quarter Woodward at Belmont Sept. 27, Round Table and Gallant Man, both 4-year-olds, will carry equal weight of 126 pounds. Clem, however, isn't expected to be on hand for this big one, which could settle the 1958 horse of the year honors.

"How does a joint checking account work?"

When starting such an account, the two people who are to use it sign an agreement that either may draw checks against it. Either may also make deposits. Many couples find special advantages in maintaining a joint account: For example, any bill can be paid by husband or wife, suiting their convenience. Other couples prefer having separate accounts. Either way, two people enjoy the four advantages of paying by check: Convenience, speed, safety, and accuracy. We'll welcome your checking account at our bank!

Bobby Raines Wins Own Game; Johnson Hits 2-Run Homer

Barrelville's Old Exports spotted Zihlman two runs in the third ted Zihlman two runs in the third lies in the seventh and eighth frames to make it two straight wins in the final playoff series of the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday at Zihlman. The score was 3-2.

Curtis Johnson's circuit belt following a single by Jack Anderson gave Zihlman a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning and it was not until the seventh stanza that the Old Exports knotted the score.

Bobby Raines opened the rally with a single and pinch-hitter Woody Woodson scored him with a timely triple. Harold Hudson's base wallop sent Woodson home with the tying marker.

Barrelville sewed up the game in the eighth when Linn singled, advanced to second when Stickley walked and scored when Bobby Raines won his own game with a single.

Raines limited Zihlman to five hits, Johnson's four-master, Ronnie Diehl's double and single, Bill Haberlein's two-base blow and a single by Anderson. The Barrelville hurler issued only one base on balls and fanned 10 in posting his 10th win against four losses. Bobby fanned the side in the third and eighth innings. He has notched three wins in the playoffs, beating Hyndman, 2-1 and 6-4 in ten innings, and Zihlman.

Harold Hudson and Raines shared four of the seven nits yielded by Lefty Bill Haberlein, who struck out seven and issued only one pass.

Campers Cop Opener From Beall, 31-0

Berkeley Winner, Rebels Defeated

Allegany High School started its 1958 football season on a winning note Saturday night by defeating Beall High School for the 12th consecutive year at the local stadium by the score of 31-0.

The Campers celebrated the debut of Edward Schwarz as their new head coach by scoring once in the first period, thrice in the second quarter and once in the final stanza to shut out the Mountaineers for the second straight season.

Richard "Baldy" Powell accounted for two tds while Gary Shook, Jim O'Neal and Jerry Horton scored one six-pointer each. Horton's pass to Fred Shook produced the lone conversion. Three Camper conversions by John Marvin were nullified by penalties.

Allegany reeled off 10 first downs to Beall's three, completed 4 of 15 passes for 62 yards while the losers failed to click in nine tries through the air. Allegany rolled up 232 net yards on the ground to 70 yards gained by Beall.

In other Saturday games, Berkeley Springs High took advantage of Hancock High School's fumbles to win by the score of 28-13, and Waynesboro (Pa.) High scored four touchdowns on passes to hand South Hagerstown's Rebels their second straight loss by the score of 26-0. Waynesboro completed 8 out of 10 aerials and the Rebels were limited to 83 yards rushing.

Meyersdale (Pa.) High defeated Northern High of Garrett county in a Friday night contest at Meyersdale by the score of 33-12. Dereezno scored thrice and Swindell twice for Meyersdale. Strauss accounted for both of Northern's touchdowns.

Moose Purse Is Feature; 450 Horses Stabled Here

First Race 2 P.M.; Colwill Secretary 9th Straight Year

Fairgo's barns are bulging with horseflesh representing many of the leading stables vying for purses on the Maryland half mile ovals as the Cumberland Fair Association launches its third 12-day race meeting today at 2 p. m., EDT.

J. Fred Colwill

Inaugural day has been designed as Loyal Order of Moose Day and a purse will be presented to the owner of the winner in the 7th race by Donald Lilya, governor of Cumberland Lodge No. 271.

34th Local Session

This will be the thirty-fourth consecutive meeting at the local track which opened as a harness racing course in 1924 and switched to five-day sessions for flat racing with vaudeville acts from the fair in 1925. Ten-day meets replaced the fivers in 1935 and the first 12-day program was presented in 1956.

J. Fred Colwill, racing secretary, yesterday announced that close to 450 thoroughbreds have been assigned to the Fairgo barns for the meeting that runs through Sept. 27 and that's capacity for the local plant. Applications for over 500 stalls were received from horsemen and many were shut out for lack of accommodations.

Colwill's Tenth Year

Colwill has been associated with the Cumberland races for ten years. He made his debut as director of racing in 1949 when "Ty" Shea was secretary and for the past eight years has served as secretary. He came here Friday from Timonium where he holds a similar post.

The supporting cast of officials includes Eddie Blind, the dapper Canadian, who will be in the starter's stand for the fourth year; Robert C. Littleton, of Hagerstown, director of wagering here for the fifth straight season; stewards Joseph Flanagan, William Harron and A. Charles Stewart; placing judges Melvin Mackin, who worked the same job this year at Arlington and Washington Park in Chicago, Henry Erickson, one-time jockey, and Gene Gunning, a member of the Fourth Estate.

Merrall MacNeille will return in the role of clerk of the scales; George Cook, one-time owner and trainer, will serve as paddock judge and timer, and Joe Brocator, who is secretary at Charles Town, William Trundle and Dan Shanklin are the patrol judges. The latter also will take over the duties of horse identifier. Last but not least is Johnny Bejshak, the one-time jockey, who will be the custodian of the local riding colony. Bejshak will be best remembered as the rider who scored many triumphs aboard Discovery, the famed weight-carrying champion, who died last month at the age of 27 at Sagamore Farm in Maryland.

Raymond "The Voice" Haight will be the announcer at the public address system for the second straight year. He's the son of Walter "The Thin Man" Haight, Washington newspaper racing expert.

Clark Defends Title

William Clark, of Mt. Holly, N. J., who booted home a record 26 winners here in 1956 and again headed the winning riders last year with 13 firsts will be here to defend his title. Clark comes here for the 9th year. His record is 90-56-48 at Fairgo.

Other saddlesmiths expected to vie for the honors here include Anthony Russo, Gus Pappas, Lamar "Always Available" Bauer, Patsy Grant, who has been riding here since way back when—, Tommy Lee, the Chinese lad, who had 11 winners here last year as an apprentice, Stanley Small, Carl Gambardella, Eddie McIvor, William Liddle; Ray Mikkonen, James Fitzgerald, Rocco Sisto, Jay Hause, Richard Ford, Earl Phelps and Ray Drury.

Heading the bug boys, or riders who have won less than 40 races, are Larry Reynolds, who is under contract to C. D. Lee; Ernest Seaman and "Cadillac Jack" Sollars. Among the missing will be Joe Servis, who suffered a broken ankle during a workout at Pimlico and Melvin Gerst, whose leg was fractured at York, Pa.

Top Trainers Listed

Among the trainers returning to the local half miler are N. J. Greco, of Laurel, who is conditioning a large stable, and has not been here for several years; James K. Fockler, Hagerstown, who saddled four winners in 1956; Louis E. "Mandy" Torreyson, Ray Vogelman, Mrs. George "Babe" Saportas, who headed the trainers here in 1948, 1949, 1950, 1952 and 1953 and had a record of 11 winners in 1952; Don Yates, back after a long layoff; Owen Follin, Jay Sensenich, "Red" Kent, Edward Leslie Miller, Stanley Moxley, R. L. "Peg" Hanna, Joseph J. "Frenchy" Pichot, Ambrose and Robert Cremen, William D. Thomas, Elwood Kirk, Earl Auld, J. M. P. Bell, A. J. "Tony" Delloso, of Rosetree, Pa.; Fred Clatterbuck, Robert Hilton, Charles George, Harold M. Gilbert and others.

Shirley Payne, of Berryville, Va., who handles several horses owned by Arthur Godfrey, will campaign here and among the missing is William G. Myers, leading trainer here in 1957 with six winners. Bill is not in racing this year.

Handicap Stars Here

Scotch View, which finished second to Hoosier Honey in the $5,000 Timonium Handicap on Saturday, and Ware and Briar Show which ran in the same race, are here. Among the other better horses stabled at Fairgo are Princeton, Chilton, Naughty Lad, His Proof and Bete Noir.

Round Table, Gallant Man Meet Sept. 27

Millionaire Bows To Clem 2nd Time

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Round Table headed for New York Sunday and a climactic meeting with Gallant Man in the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park after suffering his second straight defeat by Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem.

Again in the U.N., and packing only 113 pounds, Clem fought for the lead with Liberty Sun, and after putting him away going to the far turn, he held off the desperate stretch charge of Round Table, beating him by half a length.

In the mile and one-quarter Woodward at Belmont Sept. 27, Round Table and Gallant Man, both 4-year-olds, will carry equal weight of 126 pounds. Clem, however, isn't expected to be on hand for this big one, which could settle 1958 horse of the year honors.

Yankees Clinch 24th Pennant; Pirates Cop Pair

Champs Beat Kansas City, 5-3 And 12-7

Second Game Goes 14; Stengel Ties Mr. Mack's Record

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — New York Yankees officially became champions of the American League for the 24th time Sunday with a 5-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics and tied Casey Stengel with Connie Mack as the winningest manager in American League history.

The Yanks wrapped up the 1958 pennant in the first game of a doubleheader, and went on to win the second in 14 innings, 12-7.

Maas Wins Opener

Maas, 27-year-old right-hander, allowed the Athletics only four hits and picked up his 10th victory against eight losses this season and his sixth win since being traded to the Yanks from the A's earlier this year. Maas required relief from Ryne Duren in the ninth after giving up a single to Hector Lopez and a home run to Bob Cerv, his 35th of the year. Duren was wild and was replaced by Art Ditmar.

The champions won the second game with a five-run outburst in the top of the 14th. Singles by Jerry Lumpe, Mickey Mantle, Norm Siebern, Virgil Trucks and Hank Bauer plus a base on balls and a double-steal composed the rally.

Trailing by a 7-6 margin going into the ninth, the Yanks put together a single by pinch hitter Gil McDougald, a single by Hank Bauer, a walk to Mantle and a single by Siebern to tie the score.

Cerv Belts 36th

Bob Cerv, Athletic left fielder, smashed his 36th home run of the season in the seventh inning to bring the Athletics into a tie. A double by Dick Tomanek and a single by Hector Lopez gave the A's the leading run in the eighth, only to have the Yanks tie it in the ninth.

Virgil Trucks was the winning pitcher and Ralph Terry took the loss as he did in the first game.

Chicago Wins Two, Torgeson Wallops Pair

Billy Pierce Bags 17th In Opener, 7-1

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox celebrated the signing of manager Al Lopez for another year by trimming the Washington Senators twice Sunday 7-1 and 6-5.

Five home runs, including a pair by first baseman Earl Torgeson, helped the Sox win the nightcap after southpaw Billy Pierce went the distance in the opener and gained his 17th triumph on a yield of five hits.

The double victory upped Chicago's second-place margin to 4½ games.

Between games, co-vice presidents Chuck Comiskey and John Rigney announced Lopez had agreed to manage the White Sox through 1959. Lopez took over the reins last year and led the Sox to second place.

Torgeson's second homer of the game snapped a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning. Two of the Sox homers were inside-the-park jobs by John Callison and center fielder Bubba Phillips. The other home run was hit by catcher Sherm Lollar in the third inning, his 1,000th major league hit.

Sox starter Jim Wilson was reached for nine hits including a pair of homers by outfielder Faye Throneberry.

Jacobs Captures Centennial Open

DENVER (UPI) — Tommy Jacobs, a slightly-built young professional from California, withstood tremendous pressure of a late drive by Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., Sunday to win the $20,000 Centennial Open golf tourney with a 14 under par 266.

Vossler, who trailed Jacobs by four strokes going into Sunday's final round, fired a six under par 64 to give him a 72-hole total of 267 over the Wellshire municipal layout. Jacobs had a 33-34-67 Sunday to go with earlier rounds of 65-67-67.

Jacobs' victory gave him $2,800. Vossler, who had rounds of 33-31-64, won $1,900 for second place.

Dodgers Top Braves, 5-3

Demeter's Homer Wins Game In 7th

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A two-run homer by rookie Don Demeter in the seventh inning Sunday gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 5-3 victory over the league-leading Milwaukee Braves. The blow climaxed a three-run rally against relief pitcher Juan Pizarro.

All three of the runs which turned the tide were unearned, the result of an error by Brave shortstop Johnny Logan.

Rookie Ron Fairly led off the seventh with a walk, then Logan fumbled Gil Hodges' bounder. After rookie Frank Howard struck out, Don Zimmer singled Fairly home with the tying run. Hodges was out trying for third on Zimmer's hit, but Demeter knocked wind-blown fly over the left field fence for the tie-breaking tallies.

Johnny Klippstein, who relieved starter Don Drysdale after five innings, held the Braves to one hit the rest of the way to gain credit for his sixth victory.

Cunningham Stars As Cards Win, 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Cunningham, filling in for Stan Musial at first base, cracked two homers to account for four runs Sunday to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

Cunningham cracked a three-run home run in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie. He added his 11th home run of the year in the ninth.

Sam Toothpick Jones, the major leagues' strikeout leader, fanned six Phillies to boost his total to 212 and win his 13th game. He has lost 11. Chuck Stobbs relieved him in the ninth when the Phils loaded the bases with no one out and scored one run.

Jack Sanford hurled the first seven innings and took his 13th defeat. He has won nine.

San Francisco Is Eliminated

Giants And Cincy Split Double Bill

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mike McCormick choked off a late Redleg rally to salvage a doubleheader split for the San Francisco Giants, 6-4, Sunday after the Cincinnati Redlegs came from behind to win the opener, 4-3.

The split left the Giants 3½ games up on the Redlegs in the battle for third place, but the first-game defeat mathematically eliminated San Francisco from the pennant race.

Coe Is Named On U.S. Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charles Robert Coe, a player with impeccable golf manners and a game to match, is amateur champion of the United States for the second time and it appears that American amateur golf is in pretty good shape.

Coe, who won the title in 1949 as a lanky youngster of 25, repeated Saturday by shipping Tommy Aaron 5 and 4, in the 36-hole final.

Coe's next competitive appearance will be in the World Amateur Team and Individual Championships at St. Andrews, Scotland, Oct. 8-11. An hour or so after the championship ended, Coe and Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia, Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N.C., and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., were named the U.S. representatives in this brand new golf event. Hillman Robbins Jr. and William C. Campbell were picked as the alternates who will make the trip only if the top men are unavailable.

Birds Snap Loss String

Beat Tribe, 4-2, After 7-4 Loss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Baltimore broke a seven-game losing string by taking the second game of a doubleheader with Cleveland Sunday 4-2 on Arnold Portocarrero's five-hit pitching. The Tribe won the opener 7-4, with two home runs by Rocky Colavito and one by Vic Power accounting for six runs.

Until one out in the seventh inning, an infield scratch by Minnie Minoso was the only hit Portocarrero gave up. Then Minoso homered—his 22nd of the year and a new season high for him.

Baltimore had 12 hits off winner Don Ferrarese in the opener, and Cleveland got only nine hits. But the nine included Power's 15th home run in the third inning, good for three unearned runs, and Colavito's 36th home run, off loser Connie Johnson in the fourth inning after Minoso doubled, and his 37th off Milt Pappas in the sixth.

Bob Friend Scores 21st Victory, 6-2

Mazeroski Poles 19th Homer, Cubs Drop First, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bob Friend became the winningest pitcher in the National League and Bill Mazeroski set a new record Sunday to pace the Pirates to a 5-4, 6-2, doubleheader sweep over the Chicago Cubs that bolstered Pittsburgh's claim on second place.

Picking up his 21st victory in the nightcap, to tie with Yankee hurler Bob Turley for the major league lead, Friend also became the first Pirate to accumulate that total since Rip Sewell accomplished the feat in 1943 and 1944.

But, the ace righthander ran into trouble in the ninth inning when, after striking out two batters, he walked two others. Then Jim Marshall, who hit in four previous times at bat and drove in both Cub runs, grounded out to end the game.

Friend, a control pitcher who mixes a slip pitch with curves and fast balls, yielded only six hits and struck out five to win his fifth straight game.

Mazeroski, hitless in the first game, smashed a homer off loser Taylor Phillips in the second of the nightcap for his 19th of the season. The roundtripper broke the Pirate record of 18 homers for a second baseman set in 1930 by George Grantham.

The Pirates cut from 7½ to 6 games the margin of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves who lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Pirates have not finished in second place since 1944.

The Pirates scored twice in the second inning on Dick Groat's single and Foiles' double plus Phillips' error.

Ted Kluszewski hit a base-loaded sacrifice fly in the sixth inning to give the Pirates the opening game victory. The Pirates survived a ninth inning threat made by the Cubs who loaded the bases on walks with one out but pinch hitter Cal Neeman hit into a double play. Bob Porterfield picked up his fourth victory.

Tigers Cop Pair, Take Third Spot

Trim Sox, 6-1, 9-3, Williams Stopped

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers took third place in the American League away from the slump-ridden Boston Red Sox Sunday, winning both ends of a doubleheader and quieting the big bat of Ted Williams. The scores were 6-1 and 9-3.

Southpaw Bill Hoeft, one of the Tigers' biggest pitching disappointments in 1958, won his first game in six weeks in the nightcap after Paul Foytack hurled a brilliant three-hitter in the opener.

Hoeft worked the first seven innings of the second game in his first starting role against the Red Sox in two seasons.

Williams went into Sunday's action leading the league in hitting with a .320 average, but failed to hit safely in five trips. He was hitless in the opener and flied out in a second game pinchhitting role. His average dropped to .316.

But his teammate, Pete Runnels, picked up a point with three hits in seven at bats and now has a .319 average. Detroit's Harvey Kuenn, bidding for his first batting title, had two hits in nine turns and lost a point to .315.

The Tigers, taking over third place by a game as a result of the double triumph, collected 11 safeties in each contest with Gail Harris and Charlie Maxwell getting home runs in the nightcap.

Colts' Late Rally Noses Out Giants

Baltimore Posts First Win, 27-21, In Exhibition Tilt

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts broke away for two last-period touchdowns, the clincher a 66-yard pass interception return by rookie Ray Brown of Mississippi, for a 27-21 victory Sunday over the New York Giants in a National Football League exhibition.

The smallest crowd in Baltimore pro football history, 11,111, was on the scene in Memorial Stadium for the first Colt exhibition triumph out of five games this year. It was the fourth straight setback in the same number of practice games for the Giants.

Only the third period lacked scoring, but it was one of the most exciting of the nationally televised game.

Players Stage Fight

There was an extra added attraction of a fistfight between 225-pound Don Joyce of the Colts and 245-pound Roosevelt Brown of the Giants. Then the Colts were given three chances to break a 14-14 tie from inside the two-yard line, and they failed against an aroused Giant line.

However, they came back to do it at the start of the fourth quarter when Carl Taseff returned a punt 26 yards to the Giant 23. Two passes from quarterback John Unitas to end Ray Berry put the ball on the four and halfback L. G. Dupre took it over in a somersaulting run.

Brown, a college offensive star transformed into a defender by the Colts, came through with the decisive play then by threading his way back to the goal after intercepting a pass from a fellow alumnus, veteran quarterback Charley Conerly.

Conerly, in his 11th pro year, threw two touchdown passes to Ken McAfee and Kyle Rote, while Rote caught another from Don Heinrich.

Conerly and Frank Gifford came close to collaborating in a late Giant move for the tying touchdown. Gifford caught one of 38 yards on the Colt nine, but the officials discounted it because he pushed defender Andy Nelson.

Moore Runs 63 Yards

Halfback Lenny Moore of the Colts provided the first-half spectacular. He glided through his left tackle and took off 63 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback Unitas moved the Colts to another with his running and passing for 54 yards. He flipped the last two to Berry.

New York: TD, Rote (9 pass from Heinrich), McAffee (13 pass from Conerly), Rote (7 pass from Conerly). PAT, Summerall 3.

Yankees Clinch 24th Pennant; Pirates Cop Pair

Champs Beat Kansas City, 5-3 And 12-7

Second Game Goes 14; Stengel Ties Mr. Mack's Record

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — New York Yankees officially became champions of the American League for the 24th time Sunday with a 5-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics and tied Casey Stengel with Connie Mack as the winningest manager in American League history.

The Yanks wrapped up the 1958 pennant in the first game of a doubleheader, and went on to win the second in 14 innings, 12-7.

Maas Wins Opener

Maas, 27-year-old right-hander, allowed the Athletics only four hits and picked up his 10th victory against eight losses this season and his sixth win since being traded to the Yanks from the A's earlier this year. Maas required relief from Ryne Duren in the ninth after giving up a single to Hector Lopez and a home run to Bob Cerv, his 35th of the year. Duren was wild and was replaced by Art Ditmar.

The champions won the second game with a five-run outburst in the top of the 14th. Singles by Jerry Lumpe, Mickey Mantle, Norm Siebern, Virgil Trucks and Hank Bauer plus a base on balls and a double-steal composed the rally.

Trailing by a 7-6 margin going into the ninth, the Yanks put together a single by pinch hitter Gil McDougald, a single by Hank Bauer, a walk to Mantle and a single by Siebern to tie the score.

Cerv Belts 36th

Bob Cerv, Athletic left fielder, smashed his 36th home run of the season in the seventh inning to bring the Athletics into a tie. A double by Dick Tomanek and a single by Hector Lopez gave the A's the leading run in the eighth, only to have the Yanks tie it in the ninth.

Virgil Trucks was the winning pitcher and Ralph Terry took the loss as he did in the first game.

Chicago Wins Two, Torgeson Wallops Pair

Billy Pierce Bags 17th In Opener, 7-1

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox celebrated the signing of manager Al Lopez for another year by trimming the Washington Senators twice Sunday 7-1 and 6-5.

Five home runs, including a pair by first baseman Earl Torgeson, helped the Sox win the nightcap after southpaw Billy Pierce went the distance in the opener and gained his 17th triumph on a yield of five hits.

The double victory upped Chicago's second-place margin to 4½ games.

Between games, co-vice presidents Chuck Comiskey and John Rigney announced Lopez had agreed to manage the White Sox through 1959. Lopez took over the reins last year and led the Sox to second place.

Torgeson's second homer of the game snapped a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning. Two of the Sox homers were inside-the-park jobs by John Callison and center fielder Bubba Phillips. The other home run was hit by catcher Sherm Lollar in the third inning, his 1,000th major league hit.

Sox starter Jim Wilson was reached for nine hits including a pair of homers by outfielder Faye Throneberry.

Jacobs Captures Centennial Open

DENVER (UPI) — Tommy Jacobs, a slightly-built young professional from California, withstood tremendous pressure of a late drive by Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., Sunday to win the $20,000 Centennial Open golf tourney with a 14 under par 266.

Vossler, who trailed Jacobs by four strokes going into Sunday's final round, fired a six under par 64 to give him a 72-hole total of 267 over the Wellshire municipal layout. Jacobs had a 33-34-67 Sunday to go with earlier rounds of 65-67-67.

Jacobs' victory gave him $2,800. Vossler, who had rounds of 33-31-64, won $1,900 for second place.

Dodgers Top Braves, 5-3

Demeter's Homer Wins Game In 7th

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A two-run homer by rookie Don Demeter in the seventh inning Sunday gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 5-3 victory over the league-leading Milwaukee Braves. The blow climaxed a three-run rally against relief pitcher Juan Pizarro.

All three of the runs which turned the tide were unearned, the result of an error by Brave shortstop Johnny Logan.

Rookie Ron Fairly led off the seventh with a walk, then Logan fumbled Gil Hodges' bounder. After rookie Frank Howard struck out, Don Zimmer singled Fairly home with the tying run. Hodges was out trying for third on Zimmer's hit, but Demeter knocked wind-blown fly over the left field fence for the tie-breaking tallies.

Johnny Klippstein, who relieved starter Don Drysdale after five innings, held the Braves to one hit the rest of the way to gain credit for his sixth victory.

Cunningham Stars As Cards Win, 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Cunningham, filling in for Stan Musial at first base, cracked two homers to account for four runs Sunday to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

Cunningham cracked a three-run home run in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie. He added his 11th home run of the year in the ninth.

Sam Toothpick Jones, the major leagues' strikeout leader, fanned six Phillies to boost his total to 212 and win his 13th game. He has lost 11. Chuck Stobbs relieved him in the ninth when the Phils loaded the bases with no one out and scored one run.

Jack Sanford hurled the first seven innings and took his 13th defeat. He has won nine.

San Francisco Is Eliminated

Giants And Cincy Split Double Bill

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mike McCormick choked off a late Redleg rally to salvage a doubleheader split for the San Francisco Giants, 6-4, Sunday after the Cincinnati Redlegs came from behind to win the opener, 4-3.

The split left the Giants 3½ games up on the Redlegs in the battle for third place, but the first-game defeat mathematically eliminated San Francisco from the pennant race.

Coe Is Named On U.S. Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charles Robert Coe, a player with impeccable golf manners and a game to match, is amateur champion of the United States for the second time and it appears that American amateur golf is in pretty good shape.

Coe, who won the title in 1949 as a lanky youngster of 25, repeated Saturday by shipping Tommy Aaron 5 and 4, in the 36-hole final.

Coe's next competitive appearance will be in the World Amateur Team and Individual Championships at St. Andrews, Scotland, Oct. 8-11. An hour or so after the championship ended, Coe and Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia, Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N.C., and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., were named the U.S. representatives in this brand new golf event. Hillman Robbins Jr. and William C. Campbell were picked as the alternates who will make the trip only if the top men are unavailable.

Birds Snap Loss String

Beat Tribe, 4-2, After 7-4 Loss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Baltimore broke a seven-game losing string by taking the second game of a doubleheader with Cleveland Sunday 4-2 on Arnold Portocarrero's five-hit pitching. The Tribe won the opener 7-4, with two home runs by Rocky Colavito and one by Vic Power accounting for six runs.

Until one out in the seventh inning, an infield scratch by Minnie Minoso was the only hit Portocarrero gave up. Then Minoso homered—his 22nd of the year and a new season high for him.

Baltimore had 12 hits off winner Don Ferrarese in the opener, and Cleveland got only nine hits. But the nine included Power's 15th home run in the third inning, good for three unearned runs, and Colavito's 36th home run, off loser Connie Johnson in the fourth inning after Minoso doubled, and his 37th off Milt Pappas in the sixth.

Bob Friend Scores 21st Victory, 6-2

Mazeroski Poles 19th Homer, Cubs Drop First, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bob Friend became the winningest pitcher in the National League and Bill Mazeroski set a new record Sunday to pace the Pirates to a 5-4, 6-2, doubleheader sweep over the Chicago Cubs that bolstered Pittsburgh's claim on second place.

Picking up his 21st victory in the nightcap, to tie with Yankee hurler Bob Turley for the major league lead, Friend also became the first Pirate to accumulate that total since Rip Sewell accomplished the feat in 1943 and 1944.

But, the ace righthander ran into trouble in the ninth inning when, after striking out two batters, he walked two others. Then Jim Marshall, who hit in four previous times at bat and drove in both Cub runs, grounded out to end the game.

Friend, a control pitcher who mixes a slip pitch with curves and fast balls, yielded only six hits and struck out five to win his fifth straight game.

Mazeroski, hitless in the first game, smashed a homer off loser Taylor Phillips in the second of the nightcap for his 19th of the season. The roundtripper broke the Pirate record of 18 homers for a second baseman set in 1930 by George Grantham.

The Pirates cut from 7½ to 6 games the margin of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves who lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Pirates have not finished in second place since 1944.

The Pirates scored twice in the second inning on Dick Groat's single and Foiles' double plus Phillips' error.

Ted Kluszewski hit a base-loaded sacrifice fly in the sixth inning to give the Pirates the opening game victory. The Pirates survived a ninth inning threat made by the Cubs who loaded the bases on walks with one out but pinch hitter Cal Neeman hit into a double play. Bob Porterfield picked up his fourth victory.

Tigers Cop Pair, Take Third Spot

Trim Sox, 6-1, 9-3, Williams Stopped

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers took third place in the American League away from the slump - ridden Boston Red Sox Sunday, winning both ends of a doubleheader and quieting the big bat of Ted Williams. The scores were 6-1 and 9-3.

Southpaw Bill Hoeft, one of the Tigers' biggest pitching disappointments in 1958, won his first game in six weeks in the nightcap after Paul Foytack hurled a brilliant three-hitter in the opener.

Hoeft worked the first seven innings of the second game in his first starting role against the Red Sox in two seasons.

Williams went into Sunday's action leading the league in hitting with a .320 average, but failed to hit safely in five trips. He was hitless in the opener and flied out in a second game pinchhitting role. His average dropped to .316.

But his teammate, Pete Runnels, picked up a point with three hits in seven at bats and now has a .319 average. Detroit's Harvey Kuenn, bidding for his first batting title, had two hits in nine turns and lost a point to .315.

The Tigers, taking over third place by a game as a result of the double triumph, collected 11 safeties in each contest with Gail Harris and Charlie Maxwell getting home runs in the nightcap.

Colts' Late Rally Noses Out Giants

Baltimore Posts First Win, 27-21, In Exhibition Tilt

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts broke away for two last-period touchdowns, the clincher a 66-yard pass interception return by rookie Ray Brown of Mississippi, for a 27-21 victory Sunday over the New York Giants in a National Football League exhibition.

The smallest crowd in Baltimore pro football history, 11,111, was on the scene in Memorial Stadium for the first Colt exhibition triumph out of five games this year. It was the fourth straight setback in the same number of practice games for the Giants.

Only the third period lacked scoring, but it was one of the most exciting of the nationally televised game.

Players Stage Fight

There was an extra added attraction of a fistfight between 225-pound Don Joyce of the Colts and 245-pound Roosevelt Brown of the Giants. Then the Colts were given three chances to break a 14-14 tie from inside the two-yard line, and they failed against an aroused Giant line.

However, they came back to do it at the start of the fourth quarter when Carl Taseff returned a punt 26 yards to the Giant 23. Two passes from quarterback John Unitas to end Ray Berry put the ball on the four and halfback L. G. Dupre took it over in a somersaulting run.

Brown, a college offensive star transformed into a defender by the Colts, came through with the decisive play then by threading his way back to the goal after intercepting a pass from a fellow alumnus, veteran quarterback Charley Conerly.

Conerly, in his 11th pro year, threw two touchdown passes to Ken McAfee and Kyle Rote, while Rote caught another from Don Heinrich.

Conerly and Frank Gifford came close to collaborating in a late Giant move for the tying touchdown. Gifford caught one of 38 yards on the Colt nine, but the officials discounted it because he pushed defender Andy Nelson.

Moore Runs 63 Yards

Halfback Lenny Moore of the Colts provided the first-half spectacular. He glided through his left tackle and took off 63 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback Unitas moved the Colts to another with his running and passing for 54 yards. He flipped the last two to Berry.

New York .... 7 7 0 7—21
Baltimore .... 7 7 0 13—27

New York: TD, Rote (9 pass from Heinrich), McAfee (13 pass from Conerly), Rote (7 pass from Conerly). PAT, Summerall 3.

Baltimore: TD, Berry (2 pass from Unitas), Moore 63 run), Dupre (4 run), Brown (66 returned intercepted pass). PAT, Myrha 3.

European Champion Scores Sensational Victory In Sweden

GOTEBORG (AP) — Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, undefeated European heavyweight champion, Saturday knocked out high ranking Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., in the first round of a ten rounder between undefeated contenders.

The sensational victory moved the 25-year-old Swede into the top position of challengers to World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson. Machen, unbeaten in 25 fights including a draw with Zora Folley, was ranked second behind Folley, of Chandler, Ariz. Johansson was ranked sixth.

Machen was floored three times including the knockout fall at 2:16 of the round.

Larry Middlekamp, former Cumberland and Allegany county tennis champion, won the Prince Georges County singles title last week by defeating James Ford in the tournament finals.

Middlekamp, former director of the Public Parks League in Washington, teamed up with John Norman to capture the doubles title, also in three straight sets.

Behind The News In Business

by Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — The auto industry is set to make its contributoin to the business recovery which is already under way.

The new models which will soon be in dealer showrooms across the nation have real eye as well as mechanical appeal.

The engineering and styling people have done their jobs and done them well. From here on it is up to the sales people. They have to get out and ring doorbells.

If there is one thing the auto industry has learned in the last year — it is that the public has to be sold. The product has to be merchandised.

This applies with equal force to other industries catering to the consuming public. The selling has to be done at the local level. And once sold, the public expects service.

This is a buyer's market. Which is another way of saying that it is the day of the salesman.

There is a market for 5½ million — maybe 6 million — cars in the 1959 model year. The public has the money to buy that many cars. Installment credit is down about a billion dollars, personal income is at a record level. So are personal savings.

If the salesmen do their job — get out and really work — there should be no stopping the general recovery in business. This Summer's turn around in business is on solid ground.

There is only one doubt — one question as to this — at least as to the auto industry's role in giving vigor to the recovery.

This is what Walter Reuther will do in the fast developing showdown with the auto companies on a new contract.

The showdown can come any day now Reuther has been stalling on the contract negotiations for months, waiting for the companies to get into full production on the new models. Now that production is getting into high gear, the time for decision by him is at hand.

The companies have offered him what amounts to a 10-cent an hour increase — the annual six cents increase in the expired contracts, plus nearly a cent in added fringe benefits and close to a three cents an hour cost of living increase.

This was the General Motors offer to extend for two years the contract that ran out in the Spring. Reuther did not want a showdown in the Spring. The industry could have taken a respite then to clean up stocks of '58 models and prepare for the '59 changeovers. Also, the business recession had only given indications of hitting bottom in the Spring. Indications of a Summer or Fall upturn were very unclear. Today business has made a very heartening turnaround. This recovery gives every promise today of moving ahead.

A prolonged auto strike could stall this recovery. If dragged out long enough, it could bring a renewal of the downturn. Past auto tie ups have set back the economy as much as four months.

Reuther is a smart, shrewd man. He is also ambitious. He has his eye on high political office — that mansion on Pennsylvania Ave in Washington.

He is also up to his neck in union politics. He has always felt he must out-negotiate MacDonald of the steel workers. There is his competitive position with Meany — the head of the AFL-CIO.

Can he afford to risk being charged with stalling the business recovery by calling a strike at this critical period in the nation's economy in order to gain what could prove to be a shallow union political victory?

The auto industry is also on the spot. Two of the Big Three have been running in the red. A strike would result in additional losses. It could turn what gives promise of being a good year into a poor one.

If the industry knuckles down to Reuther, it will have lost another round and maybe the battle against the wage-price inflationary spiral Prices will have to go higher and this could result in consumer resistance.

If Reuther decides to go ahead with a strike, ignoring the effects of such a tie up on the recovery, then the companies will be faced with another decision.

This is whether to keep operating the non-struck companies if Reuther follows his usual strategy of striking first against one company — as he did some years ago against Chrysler.

Reuther, though, is the man on the spot. He can accept the offered 10-cent increase by agreeing to a continuation of the old contract, with some possible small additional face saving concessions, or risk stalling the recovery.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(Copyright 1958: The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A 6 4 ♥7 5 ♦Q 8 4 3 2 ♣10 9 5

Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?

A.—One no trump. Although this hand appears to contain the elements of a single raise, it will be seen that it is worth only six points in support of spades (one point must be deducted for only three trumps). However, it comes within the limits of a one no trump response and that is our choice. It may be possible to show the spade support subsequently, if partner bids again.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠AJ 10 ♥A 10 8 5 ♦AQ 7 6 ♣KJ

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. When partner is able to project the bidding into the two level, game is assured and there is a fair chance for even bigger things. In order to alert partner to the possibilities, an immediate display of strength is recommended. If North has anything extra, he will proceed.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠J 5 ♥AK 10 9 7 4 ♦3 ♣A 10 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Four clubs. With this sound hand and in view of partner's vigorous response, South must make one effort toward slam. The suggested call is four clubs. If North should then bid four diamonds, South should bid four hearts. Subsequent action would depend of course on North's bid at this point.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠J 3 ♥10 6 2 ♦AKJ ♣QJ 7 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Three no trump. No doubt partner has a singleton diamond, but this should not deter you inasmuch as your protection in that suit is so strong. A nine trick contact should prove easier than a minor suit game.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠A Q J 9 8 ♥A K Q 9 6 2 ♦8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diams.	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Four spades. This is preferable to a bid of four hearts. Since partner has covered West's diamond bid, chances for slam are very good. The rebid of spades will apprise partner that you have a 6-5 holding and will induce him to go on, if his values are not concentrated in the club suit. That is, if he has the right kind of diamonds and spades.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠AKQ 7 6 ♥7 6 ♦A 2 ♣Q 10 9 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Redouble	2 clubs

What action do you take?

A.—Double. This seems almost too good to be true. West was probably in an experimental frame of mind and no thought should be given to such petty matters as trying for game.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠4 ♥A 10 6 ♦AQ9 8 7 ♣KQ 10 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	2 hearts	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. While you have adequate heart support a further temporizing bid is recommended. When you raise partner's suit on the next round, he will then have a complete picture of your distribution and may be in position to proceed further.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠3 ♥A 10 9 8 6 3 ♦10 3 ♣KJ 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—North's sequence of bids indicates a 6-5 distribution. On the surface, therefore, it seems that a return to three diamonds, the suit in which the partnership is known to have eight trumps, is clearly indicated. However, it is our belief that South gives himself an extra chance at this point by bidding three clubs. He knows that in hearts and clubs, North has only two cards. If he has one of each, he will naturally return to three diamonds which South will pass, similarly if he has two clubs. But if he happens to have two hearts and no clubs he might be induced to give a delayed heart preference in which event South can decide whether to gamble it out for game.

Behind The News In Business

by Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — The auto industry is set to make its contributoin to the business recovery which is already under way.

The engineering and styling people have done their jobs and done them well. From here on it is up to the sales people. They have to get out and ring doorbells.

If there is one thing the auto industry has learned in the last year — it is that the public has to be sold. The product has to be merchandised.

This applies with equal force to other industries catering to the consuming public. The selling has to be done at the local level. And once sold, the public expects service.

There is a market for 5½ million — maybe 6 million — cars in the 1959 model year. The public has the money to buy that many cars. Installment credit is down about a billion dollars, personal income is at a record level. So are personal savings.

If the salesmen do their job — get out and really work — there should be no stopping the general recovery in business. This Summer's turn around in business is on solid ground.

There is only one doubt — one question as to this — at least as to the auto industry's role in giving vigor to the recovery.

The showdown can come any day now. Reuther has been stalling on the contract negotiations for months, waiting for the companies to get into full production on the new models. Now that production is getting into high gear, the time for decision by him is at hand.

The companies have offered him what amounts to a 10-cent an hour increase — the annual six cents increase in the expired contracts, plus nearly a cent in added fringe benefits and close to a three cents an hour cost of living increase.

This was the General Motors offer to extend for two years the contract that ran out in the Spring. Reuther did not want a showdown in the Spring. The industry could have taken a respite then to clean up stocks of '58 models and prepare for the '59 changeovers. Also, the business recession had only given indications of hitting bottom in the Spring. Indications of a Summer or Fall upturn were very unclear. Today business has made a very heartening turnaround. This recovery gives every promise today of moving ahead.

A prolonged auto strike could stall this recovery. If dragged out long enough, it could bring a renewal of the downturn. Past auto tie ups have set back the economy as much as four months.

Reuther is a smart, shrewd man. He is also ambitious. He has his eye on high political office — that mansion on Pennsylvania Ave in Washington.

He is also up to his neck in union politics. He has always felt he must out-negotiate MacDonald of the steel workers. There is his competitive position with Meany — the head of the AFL-CIO.

Can he afford to risk being charged with stalling the business recovery by calling a strike at this critical period in the nation's economy in order to gain what could prove to be a shallow union political victory?

The auto industry is also on the spot. Two of the Big Three have been running in the red. A strike would result in additional losses. It could turn what gives promise of being a good year into a poor one.

If the industry knuckles down to Reuther, it will have lost another round and maybe the battle against the wage-price inflationary spiral. Prices will have to go higher and this could result in consumer resistance.

If Reuther decides to go ahead with a strike, ignoring the effects of such a tie up on the recovery, then the companies will be faced with another decision.

This is whether to keep operating the non-struck companies if Reuther follows his usual strategy of striking first against one company — as he did some years ago against Chrysler.

Reuther, though, is the man on the spot. He can accept the offered 10-cent increase by agreeing to a continuation of the old contract, with some possible small additional face saving concessions, or risk stalling the recovery.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(Copyright 1958: The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A 6 4 ♥7 5 ♦Q 8 4 3 2 ♣10 9 5

Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?

A.—One no trump. Although this hand appears to contain the elements of a single raise, it will be seen that it is worth only six points in support of spades (one point must be deducted for only three trumps). However, it comes within the limits of a one no trump response and that is our choice. It may be possible to show the spade support subsequently, if partner bids again.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠AJ 10 ♥A 10 8 5 ♦AQ 7 6 ♣KJ

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. When partner is able to project the bidding into the two level, game is assured and there is a fair chance for even bigger things. In order to alert partner to the possibilities, an immediate display of strength is recommended. If North has anything extra, he will proceed.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠J 5 ♥AK 10 9 7 4 ♦ 3 ♣A 10 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Four clubs. With this sound hand and in view of partner's vigorous response, South must make one effort toward slam. The suggested call is four clubs. If North should then bid four diamonds, South should bid four hearts. Subsequent action would depend of course on North's bid at this point.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠J 3 ♥10 6 2 ♦AKJ ♣QJ 7 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Three no trump. No doubt partner has a singleton diamond, but this should not deter you inasmuch as your protection in that suit is so strong. A nine trick contact should prove easier than a minor suit game.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ A Q J 9 8 ♥ A K Q 9 6 2 ♦ 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diams.	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Four spades. This is preferable to a bid of four hearts. Since partner has covered West's diamond bid, chances for slam are very good. The rebid of spades will apprise partner that you have a 6-5 holding and will induce him to go on, if his values are not concentrated in the club suit. That is, if he has the right kind of diamonds and spades.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠AKQ 7 6 ♥7 6 ♦A 2 ♣Q 10 9 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Redouble	2 clubs

What action do you take?

A.—Double. This seems almost too good to be true. West was probably in an experimental frame of mind and no thought should be given to such petty matters as trying for game.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠4 ♥A 10 6 ♦AQ9 8 7 ♣KQ 10 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	2 hearts	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. While you have adequate heart support a further temporizing bid is recommended. When you raise partner's suit on the next round, he will then have a complete picture of your distribution and may be in position to proceed further.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠3 ♥A 10 9 8 6 3 ♦10 3 ♣KJ 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—North's sequence of bids indicates a 6-5 distribution. On the surface, therefore, it seems that a return to three diamonds, the suit in which the partnership is known to have eight trumps, is clearly indicated. However, it is our belief that South gives himself an extra chance at this point by bidding three clubs. He knows that in hearts and clubs, North has only two cards. If he has one of each, he will naturally return to three diamonds which South will pass, similarly if he has two clubs. But if he happens to have two hearts and no clubs he might be induced to give a delayed heart preference in which event South can decide whether to gamble it out for game.

Members of the board of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross meeting recently, elected five to executive board and discussed the audit for the past six months.

In addition to C. M. Sanner, chairman, Dr. Lillian Compton, vice chairman, Ralph R. Webster, secretary and Robert Little Ebert, treasurer, those named to the board are Mrs. J. C. Cobey, Frostburg, Miss Della Tonry, Westernport; Garland Johnston, Mrs. Harry Beneman, and Mrs. Charles Helmrich, all of this city.

The chapter also attained the eastern honor roll by meeting its financial quota to the international organization. This money is used to help people in distress anywhere in the world.

Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. the Gray Ladies of Memorial Hospital will meet at the Red Cross office; Wednesday at 10:30 a. m., a disaster committee meeting is set and at 1 p. m. the Gray Ladies of Sacred Heart Hospital will meet; Saturday at Bedford Springs Hotel, a workshop is scheduled for different services of the Red Cross.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the variation from Standard Time, commonly known as Daylight Saving Time has been made effective in Allegany County by statute for a period beginning at two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in April and ending at two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in September in each year, and

WHEREAS, Chapter 365 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1957 authorizes the County Commissioners under certain conditions to extend the period of Daylight Savings Time, and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the authority conferred by said Act, the County Commissioners have determined that Daylight Saving Time should be extended in Allegany County until two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in October in the year 1958, in that other cities and counties in Maryland and other sections of the United States have made the same extension and it is therefore necessary to make said extension in Allegany County in order to prevent inconvenience and annoyance to the commercial, economic, industrial and social affairs of the residents of Allegany County.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, in accordance with the provisions of Section 4 of Article 94 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, as enacted by Chapter 365 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1957:

1. That the variation from Standard Time, commonly known as Daylight Saving Time shall be extended in Allegany County for the year 1958, until two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in October, 1958.

Representing the local lodge were Carl Taschenberger, lodge chief; Thomas Simpson, vice chief; John Stone, vice chief; Kenneth Mogeland; and Wilbert R. Sifton, Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America field executive who serves as staff advisor of the lodge.

The Order of the Arrow was founded in the summer of 1915 by the directors of the Philadelphia Scout camp, Treasure Island. It grew out of a desire to emphasize the fact the good scout camper is not only proficient in the skills of scoutcraft, but also practices "scouthood."

It is a scouting brotherhood of honor campers; a society of Boy Scouts and Explorers which functions as a part of the regular camping program of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Order of the Arrow was approved by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America in 1934 and became a recognized part of the scouting program.

Members of the newly organized Cumberland lodge of the Order of the Arrow attended the recent Area 3-F annual meeting and fellowship at Camp Twin-Echo.

Representing the local lodge were Carl Taschenberger, lodge chief; Thomas Simpson, vice chief; John Stone, vice chief; Kenneth Moreland; and Wilbert R. Sifton, Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America field executive who serves as staff advisor of the lodge.

They were among approximately 400 Order of the Arrow members at the meeting.

The Cumberland lodge was formed on August 13 and a committee has been named to work on the selection of a lodge name, a totem, and the by-laws and constitution of the lodge.

The Order of the Arrow was founded in the summer of 1915 by the directors of the Philadelphia Scout camp, Treasure Island. It grew out of a desire to emphasize the fact the good scout camper is not only proficient in the skills of scoutcraft, but also practices "scouthood."

It is a scouting brotherhood of honor campers; a society of Boy Scouts and Explorers which functions as a part of the regular camping program of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Order of the Arrow was approved by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America in 1934 and has become a recognized part of the scouting program.

Woman, 2 Men Face Charges Of Armed Robbery

Victim Of Assault In Good Condition

A 31-year-old Baltimore woman who police said was used as a decoy, and her two male companions will be charged in the armed robbery and assault of William J. Cover, 50, of 1404 Virginia Avenue last Thursday morning.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here, said statements were obtained after the trio was questioned until after midnight Saturday and most of the day yesterday.

The three were identified as Raymond John Gray, 35, formerly of 506 Linden Street, city, who has resided in Baltimore for the past 10 years, and until recently furloughed, was a mechanic with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Howard Maurice Iser, 37, of 222 Beall Street, city, unemployed; and Alma Mabel Johnson, 31, who has lived in Baltimore since last December after coming there from Portland, Oregon. She is a native of Broadtop, Pa., near Huntingdon, police said.

Sgt. Baker and Detective Kenneth Morrissey of the Cumberland Police Department picked up Iser on the West Side late Friday night. The others were arrested Saturday in Baltimore by the Bureau of Investigation and Identification of the State Police.

Bond To Be Set

The three are being held in separate jails until they can be given hearings to set bond on the charges. Iser is being held in the City Jail, Gray is in the detention cell at the LaVale barracks of the State Police, and the woman is being held at Allegany County Jail.

Mr. Cover, who was hospitalized as a result of the beating he received during the robbery, is still a patient at Memorial Hospital, where attendants listed his condition as "good."

Police said the armed robbery and assault occurred about 3 a. m. Thursday approximately 1,000 yards north of the city limits on Shade's Lane.

The assailants took $400 in cash, an endorsed check for $98.73, and a diamond ring valued at between $200 and $250. The ring was later found in the vicinity of the holdup.

The victim, after being beaten about the head and chest with a shotgun, drove his automobile to Police Headquarters here and reported the robbery.

Ordered From Car

He told authorities that he had met the woman in a South End tavern and they had gone to another tavern in nearby Pennsylvania.

While driving back toward Cumberland with the woman, Mr. Cover said, she complained of being ill. He stopped along Shade's Lane.

When Cover refused to get out of the vehicle the pair smashed in the window and hit him with the butt of the shotgun. He got out of the car and attempted to run, but they threatened to shoot. They beat him with the shotgun when he stopped, and then took his money and valuables.

Thursday afternoon, a C&A Gas Company employe found the shotgun discarded along Bedford Road and turned it over to the authorities. Sgt. Baker at that time said it gave police a definite lead in the solution of the case.

School Away From School

20 Allegany High School Boys Study Vocational Shop Work In Pilot Course

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Twenty junior and senior boys from Allegany High School are enjoying a new educational experience this year in a school away from school.

They are attending a vocational training class in the former Allegany Trade School at the intersection of Paca Street and South Walnut Place more than three hours of each school day.

Wallace M. Walker, the instructor for this class of 20 boys, doubles as school bus driver. He picks them up in front of Allegany High School at 8:53 a. m. and has them back at Campobello by 12:25 p. m. in time for lunch in the school cafeteria.

One hour each morning, the 20 boys are in the classroom just off South Walnut Place. They study blueprint reading, related math and science. The remaining two hours they spend in the shop where they have the opportunity of using all types of industrial machines.

They will make their own tools and will work on lathes, shapers, milling machines, all types of grinders, both cylindrical and flat; drill presses, will study heat treatment of metals and some foundry and machine work during the first semester.

When the second semester rolls around, Mr. Walker plans to concentrate on auto mechanics. They will learn about the carburetor and electrical system, engine tuneup and some body and fender work.

The instructor says the boys are already beginning to ask questions about the auto mechanics program. He senses that there is a touch of the "hot-rodder" in some of them.

Back To School

After their busy morning in the shop, the 20 boys return to Campobello where they take their required courses in English and world history.

To assist the boys at the old trade school, Mr. Walker has a library of about 200 volumes from which the boys may borrow books to help them in their training. The titles include such things as "Modern Machine Shop Training," "Math For Trade and Technical School," "Blueprint Reading At Work" and "Motor's Auto Repair Manual."

Visual aids also play an important role in this vocational training. For instance there is a cutaway of an entire engine. It is painted so that the student can trace the different actions within the motor. The intake manifold is painted blue. The exhaust system is painted red and the oil system is yellow.

This engine was assembled by a group of World War II veterans who were studying at the Trade School back in 1953. Similar engine displays were made for Valley and Mt. Savage high schools.

First Course of Type

Before this year there was no vocational training program of this type for Allegany High School boys. They do have a woodworking shop, general metals shop, drafting and printing.

Fort Hill, Bruce and Beall high schools have had the type of vocational training now being started for Allegany for some years. Carver High School used to have one, too, in the days before integration when it was a 12-year school.

This newest program at the Paca Street building is the fourth use to which it has been put in some 25 years of operation. The shop was first used as a National Youth Administration training center in the Depression days. During World War II it became a war production training center. From 1946 until August 1957 it was operated as the Allegany Trade School, first for veterans of World War II and then for Korean War veterans.

Mr. Walker was a Trade School instructor from 1951 until the school closed last year.

Fuller Use Expected

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational, industrial and adult education, envisions the day when the Paca Street facilities will be put to fuller use. Because the machines there are larger and heavier and more like the boys will find in industry, Mr. Lonnholm hopes that some day, Fort Hill and probably some other schools might send some of their vocational students there.

Then, too, pre-employment training for adults might be offered in the afternoons or evenings.

Back in the spring, a number of supposedly interested boys were approached about the possibility of taking vocational training at the trade school. From those who expressed an interest, the 20 pioneers were chosen. They include John Benett, John Norris, John Stricker, Richard Holt, John Vose, Joe Yutzy, Gary Frisby, Irvin Ullery, Donald Armentrout and his brother, Dorris Armentrout; James Crippen, George Guthrie, John Hamilton, James Hedrick, Thomas Ramsey, Ray Smith, Kenny Spicer, Henry Spies, Donald McCoy and his brother, Ronald McCoy.

One indication of their interest in this program is that all 20 were present all five days last week to chalk up 100 per cent attendance.

Opens Tomorrow

Foods With A Flair Will Feature Cooking School

"Foods with a flair" will be prepared by the Times-News all-electric cooking school which opens tomorrow at 9:15 a.m. in the Strand Theater.

Scores of prizes, including several major awards, will be presented during the four-day cooking school. There will also be daily awards of baskets of food and dishes prepared at the sessions tomorrow through Friday.

This year's major awards, donated by Cumberland merchants and the Times-News, follow: RCA Whirlpool electric range, L. Bernstein Furniture Company; five-pound Bumper fruit cake and 25 loaves of Bumper bread, Community Baking Company; General Electric fry pan, Cumberland Electric Company; General Electric steam iron, Potomac Edison Company; Betty Crocker pressure cooker, Cumberland Cloak and Suit Company; electric food mixer, Queen City Dairy Company, and General Electric coffee maker, Times-News.

The school will be presented by the Times-News as a public service for homemakers of the area. The doors will open at 8:30 a. m. and each session will last about two hours. Each of the four days will be different, so homemakers will want to attend each session.

The school will be conducted by Miss Ruth Hogan and Miss Constance Weiser, well-known home economists, who are members of the field staff of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

While each daily session will be fast-moving, with demonstrations and prizes, it will also be packed with a wealth of valuable information which will continue to be helpful to homemakers long after the cooking school is over.

Those attending the school will find the two home economists to be friendly, easy-to-understand and eager to answer questions, as well as to gather new ideas and opinions from the audience.

A colorful illustrated recipe book, covering all the recipes which are demonstrated during the school, goes to each person in attendance. The recipe book also contains valuable information regarding the correct methods of cookery for various meat cuts, as well as other vital facts on menu-planning and food preparation.

Theme of the first day of the school is foods from yester-year. Recipes to be featured include Back Home Pot-Roast, Grandma's Beef Soup, Veal Creole, Banana Bonanza Cake, Country Sausage, Pioneer Lamb Stew, Liver and Vegetables—Traditional, Swanky Franks, Zesty Mincemeat Pie, (with Cuban sauce) and Roast (baked) Smoked Ham with Peach Preserve Glaze.

There is no admission charge to the school.

Beall Welcomes Debate Over Tidelands Oil

Answers Attack By D'Alesandro

[By The Associated Press]

Sen. J. Glenn Beall lashed back at his Democratic opponent, Thomas D'Alesandro, over the Baltimore mayor's accusation that Beall sold out the Federal government on the tidelands bill for campaign contributions from Texas millionaires.

"In criticizing my position with the Tidelands oil case," Beall said in a Sunday statement, "my opponent has aligned himself with one of the most socialistic federal-grab attempts in the history of our nation.

"I gladly accept this subject as a legitimate campaign issue, and I ask our voters to decide whether Maryland and the other individual states should have control over their own resources or whether such possessions should be grabbed up by a power-hungry federal government."

D'Alesandro told the convention of Young Maryland Democrats Saturday night at Hagerstown that Beall voted to take away from federal ownership the submerged oil lands past the low water mark off the coast of the nation, and "billions of dollars in these resources were given away with Sen. Beall's assistance after the Eisenhower Administration came into office."

D'Alesandro said Beall received $8,500 in campaign contributions which, he said, came from out-of-state oil interests and industrialists.

Beall retored that "I don't know whether oil will ever be discovered off the shores of Maryland, but if it is, I want it to belong to Maryland, not the federal government . . .

"Maryland, it should be remembered, has legal title and control—guaranteed by the Constitution—over approximately 1,600,000 acres of submerged land covered by the tidal waters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, as well as 61,000 acres of submerged land along the Atlantic coastal shelf.

"Would my opponent surrender this to the federal government? Judging from his position, he would."

Man Jailed After Fight

Trooper Carleton Lewis of the State Police said Ralph D. Reynolds, 43, a horse trainer, apparently struck a stable hand, Thomas Carter, 52, of Warrenton, Va., on the head with a large steel horseshoe file during the argument.

The state trooper said Carter was treated for a laceration on the side of his head and later was released at Sacred Heart Hospital. He was brought to the hospital by ambulance shortly before 5 p. m.

The argument between the two men, who were working together in the stables at the local fairgrounds in preparation for the opening of the Cumberland race meet this afternoon, came about over the ownership of a dog, the state policeman said.

Reynolds told police that Carter pulled a knife on him, and that he hit Carter with the file in self defense.

Carter later was questioned at the LaVale barracks of the state police who said the matter will be turned over to the state's attorney's office for further study.

No time has been set for a hearing on the assault charge against Reynolds.

IN LOCAL PLAY—Barbara Hollis will appear as Jessica in the Algonquin Players' production of "The Tender Trap" Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at SS. Peter and Paul Hall. Miss Hollis, who appeared in the Players' most recent production, "Guest in the House," is interested in a theatrical career. Man Injured In Truck Crash Listed 'Good'

The most seriously injured of three passengers in a runaway truck which crashed against the flood wall on Bedford Street Saturday morning was listed in "fairly good" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Attendants said Steve Ragan, 35, of 519 South Fifth Street, Duquesne, Pa., was resting as well as could be expected with a compound fracture of the right leg sustained when he was pinned in the cab of the truck when it hit the wall.

Ted Cartmel, 30, of 540 Fifth Street, Elizabeth, Pa., was charged with reckless driving by Officer James Mason and will receive a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court here.

Officer Mason said the heavily loaded truck ran away while descending Bedford Street about 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

The truck came into the downtown section after going out of control in the 800-block of Bedford Street at speeds estimated by eyewitnesses at up to 70 miles per hour.

Officer Mason said the vehicle was en route to this city from McKees Rocks, Pa., and went out of control when the driver attempted to shift into a lower gear.

Cartmel, who suffered facial lacerations and a neck injury but was not hospitalized, said the gears locked and his brakes failed as the truck gained momentum down the long, sloping street.

City Police Officer Carl Bennett was standing at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Bedford Street when the truck approached the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing there with its horn blowing. The truck literally "flew" across the tracks, he said.

Jacob Winters, off-duty city fireman, was at the corner of Frederick and North Mechanic streets. He ran to Police Headquarters when he heard the crash moments after seeing the truck whiz by.

Edward Bucy, fireman on duty at Central Fire Station's switchboard, also saw the truck coming down Bedford Street and alerted other firemen in the station so that they were on the scene seconds after the truck crashed.

William Mock, 19, of 102 Grand Avenue, this city, was a hitchhiker picked up at the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Bedford by the truck driver. He sustained only a cut finger.

The truck, owned by the Ewart Corporation of McKees Rocks, contained a large compressor and four barrels of roofing compound. It was badly damaged, as were the parked cars owned by Gladys Marie Iliff, 23 North Mechanic Street, and Francis G. Humbertson, 52 North Mechanic Street. The cars were in the little parking area off North Mechanic Street at Bedford Street.

The force of the impact was so great the wallet of one of the men in the cab of the truck was thrown into Wills Creek about 25 feet below the wall.

Fire Prevention Week Activities Are Planned

Volunteer Units To Stress Observance

Plans for the observance of Fire Prevention Week were completed yesterday as the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association met at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

The observance of Fire Prevention Week October 5-11 will be featured by open houses which are being scheduled by each of the 20 companies.

Fire prevention programs and visits to the schools they serve are also being planned by all units. Inspections and fire drills will be included in the school visits.

Literature and posters on Fire Prevention Week were presented yesterday to company representatives and will be distributed to schools and communities as a part of the observance.

A prize is being offered by the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association to the company which does the most to promote Fire Prevention Week. The prize will be awarded during the 1959 convention of state association June 17-19 in Ocean City.

Will Join Drive

The association yesterday endorsed the Muscular Dystrophy drive and pledged to participate in the campaign.

Homer Ambrose, a member of the Civil Defense committee, reported a committee meeting is planned to decide which units will get three radios which will be available in a few weeks. At present, 30 sets are in operation throughout the county.

The association announced it will take applications for radio pack sets. Any company desiring the walkie-talkie sets may contact Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, secretary of the association. The sets may be purchased from the association, on a matching basis, from the Civil Defense Agency.

Officials urged companies to consider the purchase of the portable sets which have proved useful in man-hunts, forest fires and disaster work.

Classes Planned

Noah Carder will represent the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company on the association's executive board. He and other representatives of the recently organized unit were presented to the association yesterday.

Francis Fatkin, Clarysville, president of the association, announced that Mr. Carder has been appointed an honorary member of the Insurance and Fire Prevention committee.

Fire fighting classes will begin soon in Flintstone, Bowling Green and LaVale, it was announced.

The basic fire fighting course will run for 20 weeks. Those interested in taking the course are urged to contact company officials.

Any company which wants a course scheduled may contact Robert Byrus, director of the Fire Service Extension, Box 85, College Park.

Following the meeting, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Fire Company served a turkey dinner to the delegates.

The next meeting of the association will be held October 12 at 2 p. m. in Mt. Savage.

Man Is Injured In Auto Crash

Charles Connor, 35, B&O YMCA here, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 4:20 a. m. yesterday with back injuries and lacerations of the left knee sustained when the car in which he was riding went over a steep embankment near Hyndman, Pa.

The driver of the vehicle, David F. Davis, 38, of 540 Braddock Avenue, LaVale, was treated for a severe laceration of the left arm, but he refused to stay at the hospital, attendants said. His wife, Mrs. Frances Davis, 35, was treated for brush burns.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the Davis car apparently was forced off the highway on Route 96 near the Maryland-Pennsylvania line and crashed over the embankment.

Ship Jumper Is Held

City Police are holding Sven Kloebel of Denmark here for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Dane apparently jumped his ship, the Mt. Evje Oslo, at Philadelphia, Pa., June 1, and has been sought by the Immigration and Naturalization Bureau. Sgt. James Brown arrested him here Friday.

Times-News In New State Photo Network

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland newspapers now are able to transmit and receive spot news pictures of happenings within the state in just eight minutes.

The state Wirephoto network, called the Chesapeake AP Network, was inaugurated Sunday. It will act as a branch of the coast-to-coast AP General Network, the world's largest system for transmission of pictures by wire.

Making up the Chesapeake AP Network are newspapers in Baltimore, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Annapolis and Washington. Additionally, a transmitter has been installed at Salisbury to speed spot news pictures to other newspapers in the state — or nation —within minutes.

These newspapers have been on the national network for some time. The additional state service means that they will get top state pictures much more quickly in addition to pictures from throughout the country.

Operation of the Wirephoto network is relatively simple.

When Marylanders choose either Sen. J. Glenn Beall or Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore to represent them in the U. S. Senate, an AP photographer will take a picture of the winner. He will quickly develop the picture and place it around a cylinder on a transmitter.

Then he will start the cylinder rotating. As the cylinder rotates, hundreds of comparable cylinders on receivers in every part of the nation will be turning at exactly the same speed.

At one end of the cylinder on the transmitter in Baltimore, a pinpoint of light will hit the picture as it rotates. The reflection of the light against the picture is picked up by a photoelectric cell and converted into electrical impulses that are sent out on the sprawling network.

If the light hits a dark portion of the picture, there will be little reflection. And consequently a weak signal will go out. A bright reflection, and a strong signal.

At each receiver, the signal is reconverted to a pinpoint of light, which shines on photographic paper or film. In this way it instantaneously copies the picture on the transmitter back in Baltimore.

When a news picture is transmitted by Wirephoto, the caption, or word descriptive, accompanies it. It is typed by an editor at the sending station and pasted to one end of the photograph, thus becoming part of the picture as received by the other points.

(In Cumberland, an even more modern and rapid receiving system is used. The Times-News papers use an AP Photofax machine, which receives the picture, already developed, on an electrically-sensitive paper. This bypasses the need for developing and printing in the darkroom. The picture is simply torn off the machine and sent to the engraver.)

Woman, 2 Men Face Charges Of Armed Robbery

Victim Of Assault In Good Condition

A 31-year-old Baltimore woman who police said was used as a decoy, and her two male companions will be charged in the armed robbery and assault of William J. Cover, 50, of 1404 Virginia Avenue last Thursday morning.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here, said statements were obtained after the trio was questioned until after midnight Saturday and most of the day yesterday.

The three were identified as Raymond John Gray, 35, formerly of 506 Linden Street, city, who has resided in Baltimore for the past 10 years, and until recently furloughed, was a mechanic with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Howard Maurice Iser, 37, of 222 Beall Street, city, unemployed; and Alma Mabel Johnson, 31, who has lived in Baltimore since last December after coming there from Portland, Oregon. She is a native of Broadtop, Pa., near Huntingdon, police said.

Sgt. Baker and Detective Kenneth Morrissey of the Cumberland Police Department picked up Iser on the West Side late Friday night. The others were arrested Saturday in Baltimore by the Bureau of Investigation and Identification of the State Police.

Bond To Be Set

The three are being held in separate jails until they can be given hearings to set bond on the charges. Iser is being held in the City Jail, Gray is in the detention cell at the LaVale barracks of the State Police, and the woman is being held at Allegany County Jail.

Mr. Cover, who was hospitalized as a result of the beating he received during the robbery, is still a patient at Memorial Hospital, where attendants listed his condition as "good."

Police said the armed robbery and assault occurred about 3 a. m. Thursday approximately 1,000 yards north of the city limits on Shade's Lane.

The assailants took $400 in cash, an endorsed check for $98.73, and a diamond ring valued at between $200 and $250. The ring was later found in the vicinity of the holdup.

The victim, after being beaten about the head and chest with a shotgun, drove his automobile to Police Headquarters here and reported the robbery.

Ordered From Car

He told authorities that he had met the woman in a South End tavern and they had gone to another tavern in nearby Pennsylvania.

While driving back toward Cumberland with the woman, Mr. Cover said, she complained of being ill. He stopped along Shade's Lane.

Another car with two men in it pulled up behind Cover's vehicle and the men approached him with a shotgun, ordering him from his car.

When Cover refused to get out of the vehicle the pair smashed in the window and hit him with the butt of the shotgun. He got out of the car and attempted to run, but they threatened to shoot. They beat him with the shotgun when he stopped, and then took his money and valuables.

Thursday afternoon, a C&A Gas Company employe found the shotgun discarded along Bedford Road and turned it over to the authorities. Sgt. Baker at that time said it gave police a definite lead in the solution of the case.

20 Allegany High School Boys Study Vocational Shop Work In Pilot Course

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Twenty junior and senior boys from Allegany High School are enjoying a new educational experience this year in a school away from school.

They are attending a vocational training class in the former Allegany Trade School at the intersection of Paca Street and South Walnut Place more than three hours of each school day.

Wallace M. Walker, the instructor for this class of 20 boys, doubles as school bus driver. He picks them up in front of Allegany High School at 8:53 a. m. and has them back at Campobello by 12:25 p. m. in time for lunch in the school cafeteria.

One hour each morning, the 20 boys are in the classroom just off South Walnut Place. They study blueprint reading, related math and science. The remaining two hours they spend in the shop where they have the opportunity of using all types of industrial machines.

They will make their own tools and will work on lathes, shapers, milling machines, all types of grinders, both cylindrical and flat; drill presses, will study heat treatment of metals and some foundry and machine work during the first semester.

When the second semester rolls around, Mr. Walker plans to concentrate on auto mechanics. They will learn about the carburetor and electrical system, engine tuneup and some body and fender work.

The instructor says the boys are already beginning to ask questions about the auto mechanics program. He senses that there is a touch of the "hot-rodder" in some of them.

Back To School

After their busy morning in the shop, the 20 boys return to Campobello where they take their required courses in English and world history.

To assist the boys at the old trade school, Mr. Walker has a library of about 200 volumes from which the boys may borrow books to help them in their training. The titles include such things as "Modern Machine Shop Training," "Math For Trade and Technical School," "Blueprint Reading At Work" and "Motor's Auto Repair Manual."

Visual aids also play an important role in this vocational training. For instance there is a cutaway of an entire engine. It is painted so that the student can trace the different actions within the motor. The intake manifold is painted blue. The exhaust system is painted red and the oil system is yellow.

This engine was assembled by a group of World War II veterans who were studying at the Trade School back in 1953. Similar engine displays were made for Valley and Mt. Savage high schools.

First Course of Type

Before this year there was no vocational training program of this type for Allegany High School boys. They do have a woodworking shop, general metals shop, drafting and printing.

Fort Hill, Bruce and Beall high schools have had the type of vocational training now being started for Allegany for some years. Carver High School used to have one, too, in the days before integration when it was a 12-year school.

This newest program at the Paca Street building is the fourth use to which it has been put in some 25 years of operation. The shop was first used as a National Youth Administration training center in the Depression days. During World War II it became a war production training center. From 1946 until August 1957 it was operated as the Allegany Trade School, first for veterans of World War II and then for Korean War veterans.

Mr. Walker was a Trade School instructor from 1951 until the school closed last year.

Fuller Use Expected

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational, industrial and adult education, envisions the day when the Paca Street facilities will be put to fuller use. Because the machines there are larger and heavier and more like the boys will find in industry, Mr. Lonnholm hopes that some day, Fort Hill and probably some other schools might send some of their vocational students there.

Then, too, pre-employment training for adults might be offered in the afternoons or evenings.

Back in the spring, a number of supposedly interested boys were approached about the possibility of taking vocational training at the trade school. From those who expressed an interest, the 20 pioneers were chosen. They include John Benett, John Norris, John Stricker, Richard Holt, John Vose, Joe Yutzy, Gary Frisby, Irvin Ullery, Donald Armentrout and his brother, Dorris Armentrout; James Crippen, George Guthrie, John Hamilton, James Hedrick, Thomas Ramsey, Ray Smith, Kenny Spicer, Henry Spies, Donald McCoy and his brother, Ronald McCoy.

One indication of their interest in this program is that all 20 were present all five days last week to chalk up 100 per cent attendance.

Scores of prizes, including several major awards, will be presented during the four-day cooking school. There will also be daily awards of baskets of food and dishes prepared at the sessions tomorrow through Friday.

This year's major awards, donated by Cumberland merchants and the Times-News, follow: RCA Whirlpool electric range, L. The school will be presented by the Times-News as a public service for homemakers of the area. The doors will open at 8:30 a. m. and each session will last about two hours. Each of the four days will be different, so homemakers will want to attend each session.

The school will be conducted by Miss Ruth Hogan and Miss Constance Weiser, well-known home economists, who are members of the field staff of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

While each daily session will be fast-moving, with demonstrations and prizes, it will also be packed with a wealth of valuable information which will continue to be helpful to homemakers long after the cooking school is over.

Those attending the school will find the two home economists to be friendly, easy-to-understand and eager to answer questions, as well as to gather new ideas and opinions from the audience.

A colorful illustrated recipe book, covering all the recipes which are demonstrated during the school, goes to each person in attendance. The recipe book also contains valuable information regarding the correct methods of cookery for various meat cuts, as well as other vital facts on menu-planning and food preparation.

Theme of the first day of the school is foods from yester-year. Recipes to be featured include Back Home Pot-Roast, Grandma's Beef Soup, Veal Creole, Banana Bonanza Cake, Country Sausage, Pioneer Lamb Stew, Liver and Vegetables—Traditional, Swanky Franks, Zesty Mincemeat Pie, (with Cuban sauce) and Roast (baked) Smoked Ham with Peach Preserve Glaze.

These will all be displayed, garnished for maximum eye-appeal, in the spectacular Parade of Foods which closes the session.

Beall Welcomes Debate Over Tidelands Oil

Answers Attack By D'Alesandro

[By The Associated Press]

Sen. J. Glenn Beall lashed back at his Democratic opponent, Thomas D'Alesandro, over the Baltimore mayor's accusation that Beall sold out the Federal government on the tidelands bill for campaign contributions from Texas millionaires.

"In criticizing my position with the Tidelands oil case," Beall said in a Sunday statement, "my opponent has aligned himself with one of the most socialistic federal-grab attempts in the history of our nation.

"I gladly accept this subject as a legitimate campaign issue, and I ask our voters to decide whether Maryland and the other individual states should have control over their own resources or whether such possessions should be grabbed up by a power-hungry federal government."

D'Alesandro told the convention of Young Maryland Democrats Saturday night at Hagerstown that Beall voted to take away from federal ownership the submerged oil lands past the low water mark off the coast of the nation, and "billions of dollars in these resources were given away with Sen. Beall's assistance after the Eisenhower Administration came into office."

D'Alesandro said Beall received $8,500 in campaign contributions which, he said, came from out-of-state oil interests and industrialists.

Beall retored that "I don't know whether oil will ever be discovered off the shores of Maryland, but if it is, I want it to belong to Maryland, not the federal government . . .

"Maryland, it should be remembered, has legal title and control—guaranteed by the Constitution—over approximately 1,600,000 acres of submerged land covered by the tidal waters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, as well as 61,000 acres of submerged land along the Atlantic coastal shelf.

"Would my opponent surrender this to the federal government? Judging from his position, he would."

Man Jailed After Fight

Trooper Carleton Lewis of the State Police said Ralph D. Reynolds, 43, a horse trainer, apparently struck a stable hand, Thomas Carter, 52, of Warrenton, Va., on the head with a large steel horseshoe file during the argument.

The state trooper said Carter was treated for a laceration on the side of his head and later was released at Sacred Heart Hospital. He was brought to the hospital by ambulance shortly before 5 p. m.

The argument between the two men, who were working together in the stables at the local fairgrounds in preparation for the opening of the Cumberland race meet this afternoon, came about over the ownership of a dog, the state policeman said.

Reynolds told police that Carter pulled a knife on him, and that he hit Carter with the file in self defense.

Carter later was questioned at the LaVale barracks of the state police who said the matter will be turned over to the state's attorney's office for further study.

No time has been set for a hearing on the assault charge against Reynolds.

Man Injured In Truck Crash Listed 'Good'

The most seriously injured of three passengers in a runaway truck which crashed against the flood wall on Bedford Street Saturday morning was listed in "fairly good" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Attendants said Steve Ragan, 35, of 519 South Fifth Street, Duquesne, Pa., was resting as well as could be expected with a compound fracture of the right leg sustained when he was pinned in the cab of the truck when it hit the wall.

Ted Cartmel, 30, of 540 Fifth Street, Elizabeth, Pa., was charged with reckless driving by Officer James Mason and will receive a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court here.

Officer Mason said the heavily loaded truck ran away while descending Bedford Street about 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

The vehicle came to a crashing stop against the concrete flood wall at Bedford Street's dead end just past North Mechanic Street, wrecking two autos parked there.

The truck came into the downtown section after going out of control in the 800-block of Bedford Street at speeds estimated by eyewitnesses at up to 70 miles per hour.

Officer Mason said the vehicle was en route to this city from McKees Rocks, Pa., and went out of control when the driver attempted to shift into a lower gear.

Cartmel, who suffered facial lacerations and a neck injury but was not hospitalized, said the gears locked and his brakes failed as the truck gained momentum down the long, sloping street.

City Police Officer Carl Bennett was standing at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Bedford Street when the truck approached the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing there with its horn blowing. The truck literally "flew" across the tracks, he said.

Jacob Winters, off-duty city fireman, was at the corner of Frederick and North Mechanic streets. He ran to Police Headquarters when he heard the crash moments after seeing the truck whiz by.

Edward Bucy, fireman on duty at Central Fire Station's switchboard, also saw the truck coming down Bedford Street and alerted other firemen in the station so that they were on the scene seconds after the truck crashed.

William Mock, 19, of 102 Grand Avenue, this city, was a hitchhiker picked up at the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Bedford by the truck driver. He sustained only a cut finger.

The truck, owned by the Ewart Corporation of McKees Rocks, contained a large compressor and four barrels of roofing compound. It was badly damaged, as were the parked cars owned by Gladys Marie Iliff, 23 North Mechanic Street, and Francis G. Humbertson, 52 North Mechanic Street. The cars were in the little parking area off North Mechanic Street at Bedford Street.

The force of the impact was so great the wallet of one of the men in the cab of the truck was thrown into Wills Creek about 25 feet below the wall.

Fire Prevention Week Activities Are Planned

Volunteer Units To Stress Observance

Plans for the observance of Fire Prevention Week were completed yesterday as the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association met at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

The observance of Fire Prevention Week October 5-11 will be featured by open houses which are being scheduled by each of the 20 companies.

Fire prevention programs and visits to the schools they serve are also being planned by all units. Inspections and fire drills will be included in the school visits.

Literature and posters on Fire Prevention Week were presented yesterday to company representatives and will be distributed to schools and communities as a part of the observance.

A prize is being offered by the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association to the company which does the most to promote Fire Prevention Week. The prize will be awarded during the 1959 convention of state association June 17-19 in Ocean City.

Will Join Drive

The association yesterday endorsed the Muscular Dystrophy drive and pledged to participate in the campaign.

Homer Ambrose, a member of the Civil Defense committee, reported a committee meeting is planned to decide which units will get three radios which will be available in a few weeks. At present, 30 sets are in operation throughout the county.

The association announced it will take applications for radio pack sets. Any company desiring the walkie-talkie sets may contact Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, secretary of the association. The sets may be purchased from the association, on a matching basis, from the Civil Defense Agency.

Officials urged companies to consider the purchase of the portable sets which have proved useful in man-hunts, forest fires and disaster work.

Classes Planned

Noah Carder will represent the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company on the association's executive board. He and other representatives of the recently organized unit were presented to the association yesterday.

Francis Fatkin, Clarysville, president of the association, announced that Mr. Carder has been appointed an honorary member of the Insurance and Fire Prevention committee.

Fire fighting classes will begin soon in Flintstone, Bowling Green and LaVale, it was announced.

The basic fire fighting course will run for 20 weeks. Those interested in taking the course are urged to contact company officials.

Any company which wants a course scheduled may contact Robert Byrus, director of the Fire Service Extension, Box 85, College Park.

Following the meeting, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Fire Company served a turkey dinner to the delegates.

The next meeting of the association will be held October 12 at 2 p. m. in Mt. Savage.

Man Is Injured In Auto Crash

Charles Connor, 35, B&O YMCA here, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 4:20 a. m. yesterday with back injuries and lacerations of the left knee sustained when the car in which he was riding went over a steep embankment near Hyndman, Pa.

The driver of the vehicle, David F. Davis, 38, of 540 Braddock Avenue, LaVale, was treated for a severe laceration of the left arm, but he refused to stay at the hospital, attendants said. His wife, Mrs. Frances Davis, 35, was treated for brush burns.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the Davis car apparently was forced off the highway on Route 96 near the Maryland-Pennsylvania line and crashed over the embankment.

Ship Jumper Is Held

Times-News In New State Photo Network

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland newspapers now are able to transmit and receive spot news pictures of happenings within the state in just eight minutes.

The state Wirephoto network, called the Chesapeake AP Network, was inaugurated Sunday. It will act as a branch of the coast-to-coast AP General Network, the world's largest system for transmission of pictures by wire.

Making up the Chesapeake AP Network are newspapers in Baltimore, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Annapolis and Washington. Additionally, a transmitter has been installed at Salisbury to speed spot news pictures to other newspapers in the state — or nation —within minutes.

These newspapers have been on the national network for some time. The additional state service means that they will get top state pictures much more quickly in addition to pictures from throughout the country.

Wirephoto is the designation given by The Associated Press for its far-flung network of leased wires over which pictures are transmitted from hundreds of points.

When Marylanders choose either Sen. J. Glenn Beall or Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore to represent them in the U. S. Senate, an AP photographer will take a picture of the winner. He will quickly develop the picture and place it around a cylinder on a transmitter.

Then he will start the cylinder rotating. As the cylinder rotates, hundreds of comparable cylinders on receivers in every part of the nation will be turning at exactly the same speed.

At one end of the cylinder on the transmitter in Baltimore, a pinpoint of light will hit the picture as it rotates. The reflection of the light against the picture is picked up by a photoelectric cell and converted into electrical impulses that are sent out on the sprawling network.

If the light hits a dark portion of the picture, there will be little reflection. And consequently a weak signal will go out. A bright reflection, and a strong signal.

At each receiver, the signal is reconverted to a pinpoint of light, which shines on photographic paper or film. In this way it instantaneously copies the picture on the transmitter back in Baltimore.

The light on the Baltimore transmitter is attached to a worm gear which carries it the length of the cylinder — and the picture — at the rate of an inch a minute. So for a picture eight inches wide, the transmission time is eight minutes.

When a news picture is transmitted by Wirephoto, the caption, or word descriptive, accompanies it. It is typed by an editor at the sending station and pasted to one end of the photograph, thus becoming part of the picture as received by the other points.

(In Cumberland, an even more modern and rapid receiving system is used. The Times-News papers use an AP Photofax machine, which receives the picture, already developed, on an electrically-sensitive paper. This bypasses the need for developing and printing in the darkroom. The picture is simply torn off the machine and sent to the engraver.)
